PARKER-HARRISON CONTEST CENTERS MACON INTEREST

Committee Chairman To Recommend Issue Be Settled by Convention at Large.

MACON WELCOMES EARLY ARRIVALS

Central City Is Jammed
With Visitors—Executive and Sub-Committees Will Meet Today.

MACON, Ga., Oct. 15.—(AP)—G. Ed Maddox, chairman of the state democratic committee, upon arrival here late tonight, said that so far as he was concerned the fight between Parker and Harrison for the nomination as comptroller general, would be settled by the state democratic convention at large.

Such a report is ready to be presented before the convention on Friday, Mr. Maddox said, dependent somewhat on a meeting of the sub-committee called for 11 a. m. tomorrow. Both Mr. Parker and Harrison have been notified by letter, however, he said, that "the matter will be referred to the convention."

The chairman of the committee, who will be succeeded by Laurence Camp after the convention is organized Friday, said that his report thoroughly outlined the Parker-Harrison fight. Study of the matter, he said, has caused him to reach the conclusion that the controversy was of a nature as to "not come within the province of the state democratic committee or its officers, but a matter which could be considered and passed upon by the convention itself."

Accordingly, Mr. Maddox's report will say the matter is referred to the convention "for such consideration and action as may be deemed proper in the premises."

The question to be settled is whether an amended return of votes cast in Wilkinson county, the same amended return giving the county to Parker and causing a tie in unit votes, and a Parker majority in popular vote shall be accepted. Another question is whether a recount of votes in Wilkinson county, which gave the county to Harrison, and insured him a two-unit vote lead over Parker, shall be accepted. Both counties previously were accredited to R. M. Bird, another candidate for the nomination in the September 10 primary.

Mr. Maddox inferred that he probably would confer with tonight re-organizing committee members.

Richard B. Russell, Jr., democratic nominee for governor, arrived here tonight from Winston to attend the state democratic convention on Friday but remained silent on the matter of platform, contests and party officers.

It was definitely learned, however, that Albert J. Little, of Valdosta, will be the temporary chairman and keynote speaker of the convention, while Laurence Camp, of Valdosta, will be permanent chairman. Miss Stella Aiken, of Savannah, will take over the executive committee secretarial duties, now performed by Mrs. Bessie Anderson.

Immediately after the gubernatorial nominee and his brother, Robert, arrived tonight, his quarters in the Danmore hotel became the scene for friends and foe alike. Photographers made the usual shots of political celebrities, and he then retired to confer with Mr. Camp and other leaders.

Mr. Russell was active in his successful campaign. Judge Little, the keynote speaker, arrived tonight, as did J. Wilhoit and others closely connected with the Russell campaign.

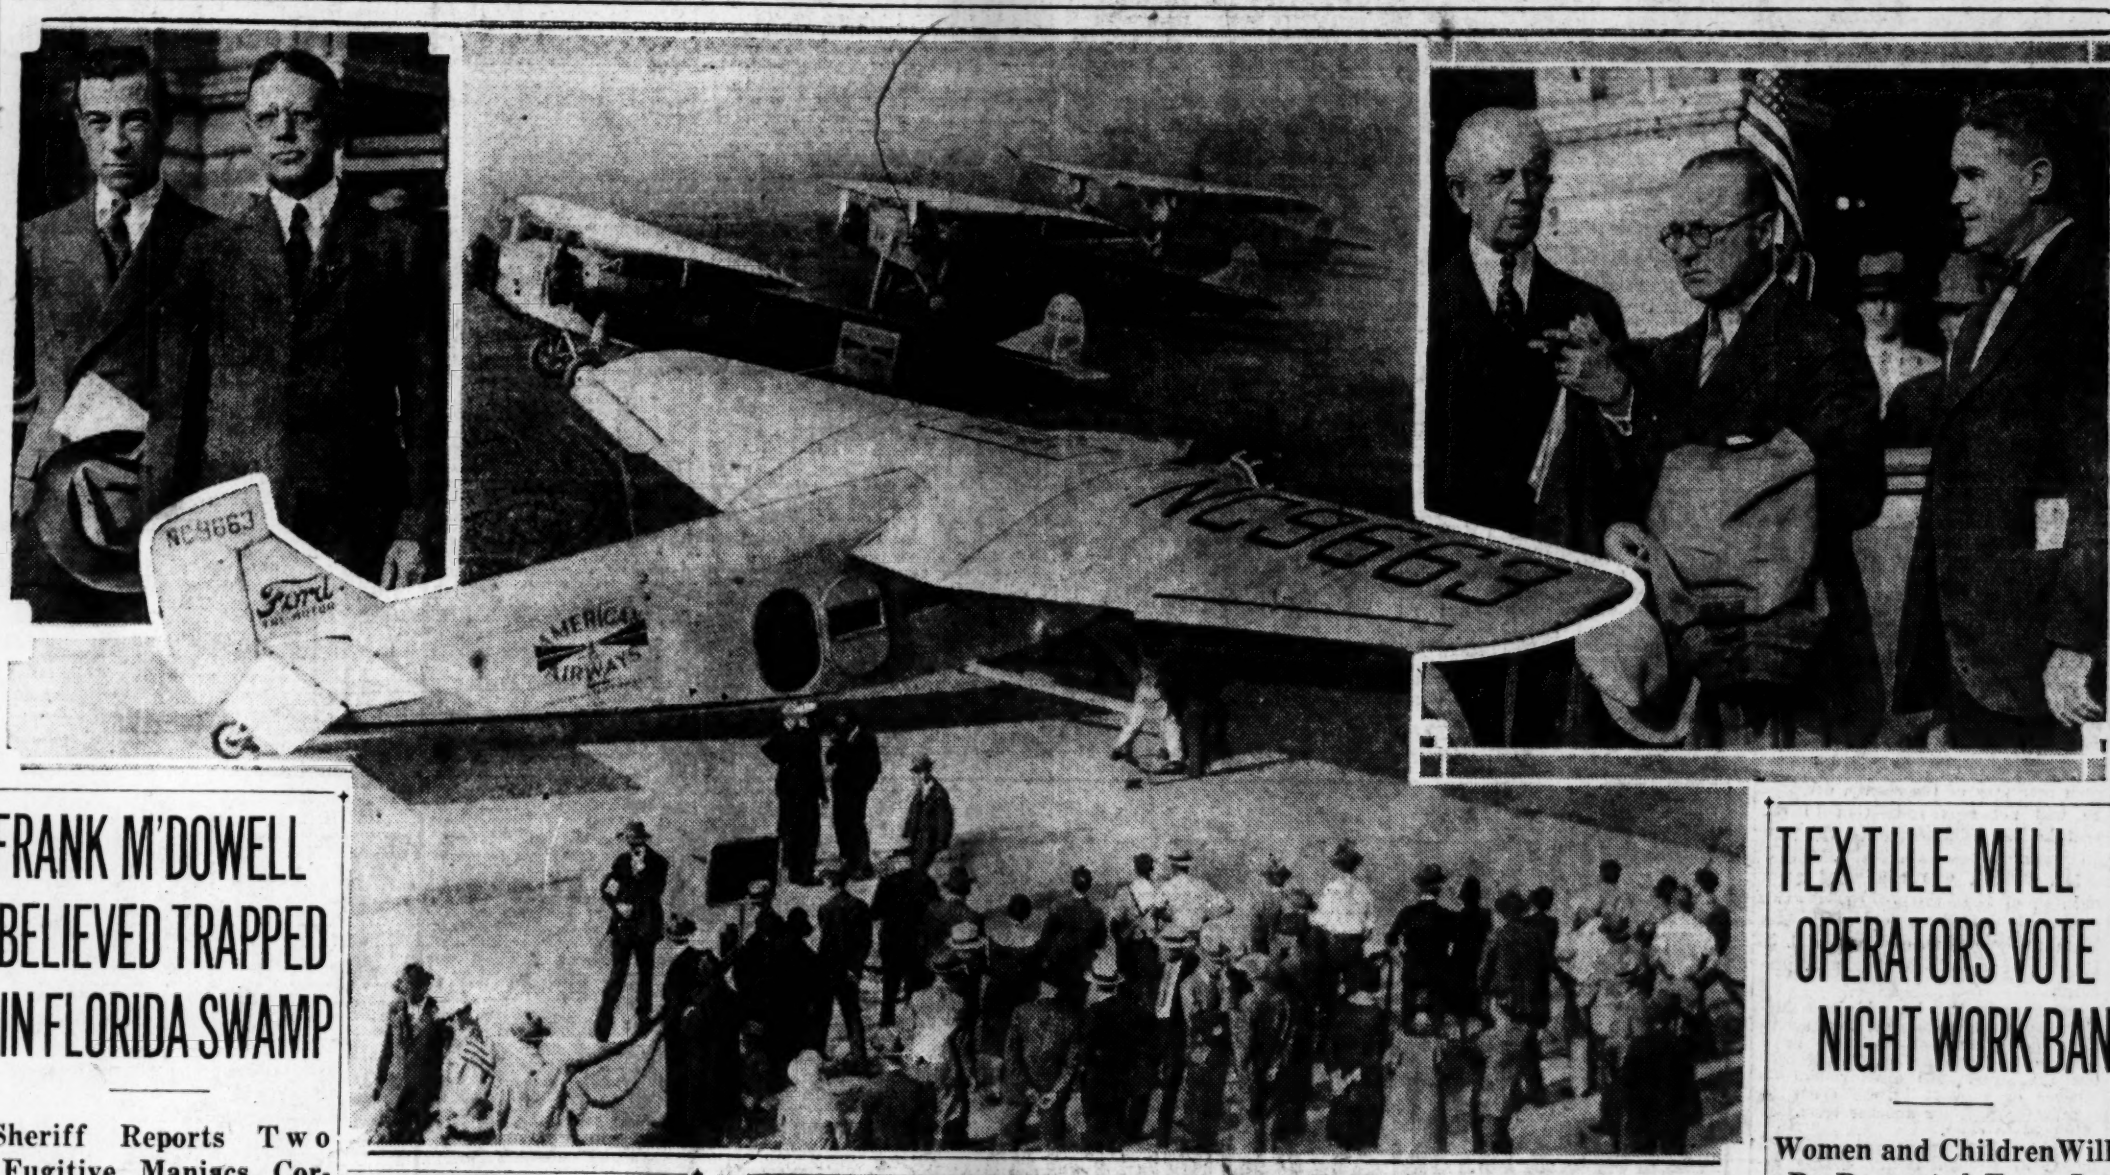

The crowds about the hotels tonight were largely Russell men. Friends of George H. Carswell, defeated by Russell in the October 1 run-over primary, said he probably would not attend the convention. Governor L. D. Hardman does not expect to attend either.

McClatchey Will Retire.
Announcement of D. F. McClatchey in Atlanta that he would not seek another term as secretary of the state senate was received with interest by delegates here tonight, and brought forth one definite announcement for the office and another tentative one.

D. Brack Blacklock, of Atlanta, formerly of Fayetteville, said he would seek the office. Mr. Blacklock was secretary in Governor Hardwick, and in a Russell delegate from Fulton county to the coming convention. He is a son of A. O. Blacklock, former inland revenue collector of Georgia.

The tentative announcement was made by John T. Boileau, of Atlanta and Macon.

Atlanta Cheers Departure of First Air Mail to Pacific; Initial Plane Arrives From Dallas

The first eastbound plane on the western leg of the new southern route transcontinental air mail and passenger line arrived here from Dallas at 7:10 central standard time Wednesday night, completing the inauguration of service over that division.

FRANK M'DOWELL BELIEVED TRAPPED IN FLORIDA SWAMP

Sheriff Reports Two Fugitive Maniacs Cornered Near Quincy, Fla.

Cornered in a small swampy wilderness six miles from Quincy, Fla., two young maniacs Wednesday night huddled close together, one clutching a loaded revolver, as sheriff's armed forces, with baying bloodhounds, encircled their lair. Early Thursday morning, however, it was believed the fugitives had eluded their pursuers and they were reported headed toward Jacksonville.

The dangerous couple, definitely identified by Sheriff Scott Gregory, of Quincy, are Frank McDowell, former Decatur (Ga.) youth who wiped out his entire family of two sisters and a brother within a year; and John Pruitt, lunatic automobile thief, who escaped Monday night from the Florida state asylum at Chattahoochee.

Sheriff Scott was quoted in Associated Press dispatches as saying there was no doubt that the two young men were the maniacal fugitives for whom Florida and Georgia authorities have been on constant lookout since news of their escape recalled to mind the "holy ghost" murders of 1923 and 1924 perpetrated by the boyish McDowell.

According to dispatches from Quincy, Sheriff Gregory said a group of negroes who had supplied the two men with food at noon Wednesday had positively identified them, even describing the asylum clothing they wore at the time of their desperate break for freedom.

Late Wednesday night, it was reported, a large armed posse was guarding the small three-acre swamp, waiting for the men to emerge, or for daylight to make a rush on their hiding place less dangerous. The sheriff appeared confident they could not escape.

Receipt of the definite identification of the pair surrounded in the swamp Wednesday night at Quincy, McDowell already had made his way back to the vicinity of his earlier atrocities. Local detectives were alerted, and into action early Wednesday evening when a clerk in the men's clothing division of a downtown department store telephoned Chief A. Lamar Poole, informing him that a man wearing the blue-gray denim of prison inmates had come into the men's clothing and haberdashery department shortly after 5 o'clock that afternoon and had purchased a blue suit of clothes, a brown felt hat, white shirt, and undergarments, and had requested permission to "rest and smoke awhile" in a dressing room following which he had completely changed into the newly-bought outfit, at the same time rather savagely kicking the old denim garments into a corner, muttering:

"That's the last time I'll have to wear those things."

The clerk's information to the detectives, however, came too late, and when a squad of plain clothes men arrived at the store, the suspected man, whom the clerk said answered McDowell's description to "a T" had gone, not even waiting for change due him.

A general lookout was flashed to members of the police force, but police apparently played little importance to the tip, making no effort to check up with Florida prison officials on the denim clothing found in the dressing room, or with the Atlanta federal prison authorities to determine whether it might belong to a prisoner recently released or to one escaped.

When asked by The Constitution whether a prisoner had escaped or had been released Wednesday or within the last few days, attaches at the federal penitentiary declined to answer, saying they were forbidden to "give out any kind of information."

LABOR DEMANDS GOVERNMENT GIVE AID TO JOBLESS

Describes Present Measures as Inadequate and Seeks Immediate Conference of All Officials.

BOSTON, Oct. 15.—(AP)—The American Federation of Labor today voted to call upon President Hoover, the 48 governors and the mayors of all the cities in the country for mobilization of the public and private agencies of the nation in a co-ordinated movement to provide immediate unemployment relief.

M. J. Collier, of the resolutions committee, in urging adoption of the recommendation, criticized the present administration for "sidetracking the Wagner-bills, so-called," and declared that despite government appropriation for new government buildings two or three years ago, such as a new postoffice in Chicago, little actual employment had been provided.

He pointed out that 27,000,000 Harding advocated a similar plan nine years ago.

The executive council was instructed to call upon President Hoover immediately upon adjournment of the convention to appoint a national committee to direct the movement, while state federations and central labor bodies are requesting the governors and mayors to appoint similar subordinate committees.

The resolutions committee, which recommended the proposal, also reported six resolutions pertaining to unemployment insurance, with the recommendation that they be referred to the executive council for further study.

The report regarding unemployment insurance was accepted after President Green had explained the workings of such insurance in Great Britain.

NAVY DENIES EFFORT TO REDUCE WAGES.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Prompt assertions that the navy department has made no attempt to reduce the wages of navy yard employees came today from Secretary Adams and Assistant Secretary Jahneke in response to charges made by speakers before the American Federation of Labor convention in Boston.

ATLANTA AS HUB OF AIR PROGRESS SEEN BY BROWN

Postmaster General Announces Future Policy of Combining Mail, Passenger Services.

BY R. E. POWELL.
Standing beside a trimotored Fokker transport ship of the South Air Express—one of the fleet of four which made the first flight over the Atlanta-Los Angeles air mail and passenger line—Postmaster General Walter F. Brown Wednesday morning uttered the prophecy that the time is not far distant when "air planes, both passenger and mail, will radiate out of Atlanta like spokes out of a giant wheel hub."

The distinguished cabinet member, one of the political intimates of President Hoover and a postmaster-general who has done much to popularize the air and all kinds of mail service, headed a party of government and aviation officials and newspapermen who hopped off from Candler field for Dallas shortly before 9 o'clock.

Postmaster-General Brown called attention briefly to the fact that the flight from Atlanta to Dallas was but one of four being undertaken during the day. A plane left for Burbank, Cal., near Los Angeles, landing at 9:40 p. m. (P. S. T.), while another winged its way eastward from Burbank to the Texas city.

Brief Visit Here.
Mr. Brown arrived by train from Richmond at 7:55, and was at the field in a few minutes to board the inaugural ship, which made a perfect take-off under the guidance of Charles F. Pedley and Herbert L. Kindred, veteran pilots.

In the plane with Mr. Brown rode W. Irving Glover, first assistant postmaster-general; Major Clarence M. Young, assistant secretary of commerce for aviation; Homer Hendshaw and Graham B. Grosvenor, vice president of the Southern Air Express Company and J. H. Bagley, of New York.

Joseph T. Rose, Georgia collector of taxes, also accompanied the party.

Their seating capacity filled with passengers, among them many of the nation's leading aviation enthusiasts and aeronautical leaders, four huge airplanes taxied down Candler field runways Wednesday morning soon after dawn, lifted their wheels from the tarmac and headed west.

In the center above is a view of the planes as they lined up to receive passengers in the morning mist, while at the upper left are Major Clarence M. Young, assistant secretary of commerce for aviation; and Postmaster-General Walter F. Brown, passengers on the inaugural flight. In the upper right are J. H. Bagley, president of the American Bank Note Company, Assistant Postmaster General W. Irving Glover and Atlanta's postmaster, E. K. Large, also passengers westward. C. B. Williams and Mrs. Frances Whitaker (below) are shown upon their arrival at Candler field's passengers in the Dallas-Atlanta inaugural plane, in which Joe Glass was at the controls with G. L. Loomis as co-pilot. Photos by Kenneth Rogers and George Cornett, staff photographers.

Alice Brady Named Co-Respondent By Wife of Erlanger Leading Man

Named as co-respondent with her husband in a petition for divorce filed in Detroit by the actor's wife, Alice Brady, famous actress and daughter of the well-known American producer, William A. Brady, Wednesday night indignantly denied that she had come into the men's clothing and haberdashery department shortly after 5 o'clock that afternoon and had purchased a blue suit of clothes, a brown felt hat, white shirt, and undergarments, and had requested permission to "rest and smoke awhile" in a dressing room following which he had completely changed into the newly-bought outfit, at the same time rather savagely kicking the old denim garments into a corner, muttering:

"That's the last time I'll have to wear those things."

TEXTILE MILL OPERATORS VOTE NIGHT WORK BAN

Women and Children Will Be Prevented From Laboring at Night Under New Rule.

BY JULIUS FRANDSEN.
United News Staff Correspondent.
NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(UN)—Cotton manufacturers of both north and south, through their research organization, Cotton Textile Institute, committed themselves today to a policy of abolishing night work by women and minors under 18.

Members of the institute at their fifth annual meeting voted overwhelmingly in favor of the board of directors' recommendation that night work by women and children be discontinued and took immediate steps to put the plan into operation by March 31, 1931.

Mill's operating nearly 21,000,000 spindles—about two-thirds of those in place in the country—were recorded in favor of the change. Of the mills now running night shifts, 68 per cent joined in the movement.

It was estimated that around 50,000 women and children, largely in the southern textile centers, would be affected. Employment of women and children at night is already prohibited by law in most of the New England states.

Immediately after the vote, nearly all the 135 manufacturers attending the meeting signed "declarations of policy" committing their organization to eliminate the practice for the benefit of mill communities, the operatives and the stockholders' if 75 per cent of the industry agrees the first year.

Sloan asserted that elimination of night work by women and children would do much to cut down over-production and equalize employment throughout the year. Under present conditions many mills work night shifts when demand is at its peak and then lay off their employees when production catches up.

It was admitted that inauguration of the plan might throw large numbers of operatives out of work at the first. Sloan said the institute declared, however, that the resultant stabilization of the industry as a whole would lead to better conditions for workers as well as owners.

The action by the Textile Institute followed closely that of the American Federation of Labor, which at Boston, Boston, endorsed a recommendation of the National Textile Union that the federation work for passage of the eight-hour day laws by southern states as well as owners.

President Sloan, of the institute, in his annual report scored mills that speed up production beyond market requirements and urged manufacturers to continue advertising programs designed to broaden the market for cotton goods.

Sloan was re-elected president, and Walker T. Hines, war-time director of railroads, was again named chairman of the board of directors. The following were elected to the board for three years: W. D. Anderson, Macon, Ga.; S. M. Beattie, Piedmont, S. C.; J. W. Bowen, Fall River, Mass.; G. E. V. Buxton, Fall River, Mass.; Charles R. Chase, Fall River, Mass.; Donald Comer, Birmingham, Ala.; Philip Dana, Westbrook, Maine; F. A. Flannery, Boston, Mass.; J. M. Gamewell, Lexington, N. C.; C. L. Gilliland, Philadelphia, Pa.; R. H. I. Goddard, Providence, R. I.; L. O. Hammett, Hingham, S. C.; R. L. Howland, Boston, Mass.; H. B. Jennings, Lubberton, N. C.; H. A. Ligon, Jr., Spartanburg, S. C.; Leaville McCampbell, New York City; J. A. McGregor, Utica, N. Y.; V. M. Monahan, Spartanburg, S. C.; W. B. Munson, Denison, Texas; Frank I. Neild, New Bedford, Mass.; W. S. Peppercorn, Providence, R. I.; Benjamin D. Riegel, New York City; H. Nelson Slater, New York City; Ann W. Smith, Greenville, S. C.; G. T. Thompson, Adams, Mass.; George M. Wright, of Graft Falls, S. C., was elected for one year to fill a vacancy.

EASTBOUND PLANE LANDS AT CANDLER

The first eastbound plane on the western leg of the new southern route transcontinental air mail and passenger line arrived here from Dallas at 7:10 central standard time Wednesday night, completing the inauguration of service over that division.

The Dallas-Atlanta plane was piloted by Joe Glass, with G. L. Loomis as co-pilot, and bore Mrs. Frances Whitaker and C. B. Williams as passengers.

BY GENE HINTON,
Aviation Editor.

FORT WORTH, Texas, Oct. 15.—Flying the mail and a capacity load of passengers from Atlanta to Dallas, opening the new and long-sought southern transcontinental service through the heart of Dixie via its Gateway City, the inaugural plane and its escorting trimotored ships landed at the night control city at 4:33 o'clock this afternoon.

The tardiness in arrival at Dallas must be charged to the enthusiasm of the receptions for this first Atlanta-to-Pacific coast flight. Though late, by more minutes than the postoffice department probably would want to publish, but with the flight a complete success in every possible way, the distinguished officials and passengers were given a warm reception.

Members of the Atlanta-to-Dallas party, upon safe delivery of their postal cargo in Dallas, flew to Fort Worth to be guests of the city, and later were joined here by pilots, officials and newspapermen who accompanied the first Los Angeles-Dallas air mail. All were entertained to night at an elaborate reception at the North Texas Hotel, and the party departed for the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Getting air mail for the first time through the new transcontinental line, Jackson, Miss., declared a holiday and turned out in full force for the festivities, which included speech making and hand shaking. But the best part of the program, at least to the hungry wayfarers on this aerial trail.

FINANCES BARED BY BLACK SHIRTS

Only 1,034 of 1,700 Members Have Paid $1 Fee, Testimony Discloses.

The treasury of the American Fascist Order of Black Shirts, contained $2,955 on September 19, according to testimony developed Wednesday by Solicitor General John A. Boykin, in cross-examination of Holt J. Gwiner, adjutant general of the order, during a hearing before Judge G. H. Howard on Gwiner's petition for a charter.

Gwiner testified he sometimes carried a gun, but would not state he had ever carried one in a meeting of the fascists. Further probing by Solicitor Boykin in an effort to show that the "military department" members of the order carried sidearms met with the statement by Gwiner that one man, a special officer, carried both a gun and a badge. Gwiner admitted presiding over meetings with a blackjack, but claimed he borrowed the "billy" from a policeman in the absence of a gavel.

Solicitor Boykin brought out that the Black Shirts have 1,700 "card members," but that only 1,034 of them have paid the $1 fee charged for the "card" and passbook, the others having been issued cards on a free list.

Gwiner, who occupied the stand during the most of Wednesday's court session, was cross-examined by J. O. Wood, a leader in organizing the local body and an incorporator of a rival American fascist group in Orlando, Fla., who sought to upset Gwiner's contention that Gwiner originated the idea of establishing such an order.

Attorney Walter A. Sims, representing Gwiner's organization, Wednesday filed a cross-bill asking for an injunction to restrain the Orlando incorporated order from operating in Georgia. The Wood faction is seeking an injunction to restrain Gwiner from obtaining a charter.

Edward L. Reagan Formally Nominated As Senator From 35th Georgia District

Major Devereaux F. McClatchey Announces Is Out of Politics.

On the heels of formal nomination Wednesday of Edward L. Reagan, of McDonough, as senator from the thirty-fifth Georgia district, comprising Fulton, Clayton and Henry counties, Major Devereaux F. McClatchey, veteran secretary of the senate, declared he will not seek re-election to the post he has held unopposed the past 15 years.

Announcement by Major McClatchey of his retirement from active participation in politics came as a surprise to his many friends throughout the state. He already had 39 pledges of support in the event he sought the post for another term. It takes 26 to elect.

Senator-elect Reagan was nominated by T. J. Brown, Henry county attorney, who was the unanimous choice as the new chairman of the executive committee when the election was held.

He lauded Mr. Reagan and his political career, pointing to his enthusiastic support of the democratic party in the 1928 presidential election and of "his sterling honesty and faithfulness to duty and friends."

All praised the nominee and declared affairs of the district are in "good and efficient hands."

In accepting the nomination, Mr. Reagan stated he will view each piece of legislation with the regard to which it is entitled and "will act for the best interests of the counties I represent and the state of Georgia."

"It is my desire to serve the people, and I shall devote my energies and my efforts toward that end," he declared. "I hope I shall merit the trust and confidence the people have shown in me."

"The people of the state of Georgia and of this district have spoken definitely and with a finality expressing their disapproval of ring and political factional rule. I am in accord with the governor-elect on virtually every one of the main issues and shall deem it a pleasure to serve with him in prosecution of his program for the state."

Promotion Announced. Major McClatchey's statement regarding his decision to retire from the secretary's post in the senate followed an announcement of Ben S. Road, president of the Southern Bell Telephone Company, of promotion of Major McClatchey to the position of executive assistant in the official personnel of the company.

Mr. McClatchey has been connected with the telephone company for 30 years in various capacities, and has been affiliated with the Georgia legislature for 32 years.

Previous to his election as secretary of the senate, he served as reading clerk and chief clerk on the house of representatives.

"I should like to continue my service, but my new work will require my entire time, and shall have to forego the work in the senate which I have loved so much," he said. "I am deeply grateful to my friends throughout the state for their many kindnesses, and shall deem it a pleasure and a privilege to serve them in any capacity possible."

Committee Members. The new executive committee officers for the next year in addition to Judge T. J. Brown, includes Mrs. Wade Pullin, of McDonough, secretary.

Executive committee members from Fulton county are Judge Garland M. Watkins, Mark Bolding, Carl Copeham, H. A. Allen, Carl Davis and C. M. Copeland. Henry county—Judge T. J. Brown and R. L. Crawford; Clayton county—C. J. Coogler and W. H. Reynolds.

Those who attended the luncheon at which Mr. Reagan was formally nominated were Major D. F. McClatchey, Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Reagan, Mrs. John Toler, Mrs. Wade Pullin, Mrs. William Pullin, J. E. Hooten, W. B. Pullin, Judge T. J. Brown, W. A. Simpson, C. M. Crawford, T. J. Brown, Jr., O. G. Coogler, W. H. Reynolds, J. W. Mundy, J. P. McCullough, H. C. Elliott, W. H. Pullin, Judge Garland Watkins, Mark Bolding, C. N. Davis, C. R. Copeland, Harvey L. Brown, Dr. R. L. Crawford and Joseph Mann.

Mr. Coogler declined to serve as chairman of the executive committee for the next two years, declaring that he felt that the chairman should come from the same county from which the senator comes. He suggested Judge Brown and the convention unanimously elected Judge Brown after permitting Mr. Coogler to withdraw.

NYE FINDS NOTHING WRONG IN TENNESSEE

Apologizes to Publisher for Question Based on Rumor.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 15.—(UN)—The senate campaign funds investigating committee adjourned its first day of inquiry in the Tennessee democratic primary today with an announcement, "No evidence of material nature in support of charges" has been revealed.

Chairman Gerald P. Nye adjourned the committee hearings until 1:30 p. m. tomorrow when several leads pointed out during today's session will be investigated.

Judge Cordell Hull, democratic nominee for the United States senate, testified before the committee he refused all campaign contributions, hearing full expense of the campaign himself and contributed $10,000 to his headquarters.

He declared he knew of no other expenditures either by his headquarters or by friends, except those submitted to the state in compliance with state law. However, he indicated, he had learned since that various friends had expended small sums in his interest. He pledged the full co-operation of his campaign officials in the Nye inquiry.

Colonel Luke Lea, publisher of five Tennessee newspapers, expressed bitter resentment when Senator Nye asked him about a rumor that he had been offered $10,000 to throw his influence to an unsuccessful candidate for the senate.

Answering Senator Nye's apology for asking the question, Colonel Lea declared the question should not have been asked unless authority for it were given. He expressed doubt that any such rumor was afloat and intimated the committee's "secret service" had associated with "grifters and scum of Tennessee politics."

Colonel Lea denied any interest, participation or contribution to the senatorial campaign. Rogers Caldwell, banker, was dismissed after brief questioning revealed his duties as democratic committee treasurer covered only the past few weeks and that he was not interested in the senatorial campaign.

"We have found absolutely nothing thus far to justify the charges made but I cannot comment definitely until after the completion of the evidence, Thursday," Senator Nye said after adjournment.

Pope Pius Gives Dispensation For Royal Match

VATICAN CITY, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Pope Pius XI today granted a dispensation permitting the marriage of King Boris III. of Bulgaria, and Princess Giovanna, of Italy, on the written promise from Boris that any children born of the marriage, without exception, will be baptized and educated as Roman Catholics.

Boris is a member of the Greek Orthodox church, the Bulgarian state religion, and the constitution of his country says that its king must be of that faith. The Princess Giovanna is known as a staunch and fervent Roman Catholic.

The wedding will take place in Assisi cathedral, October 25, in the lower chapel at the altar of the Madonna of Good Council, near the tomb of the infant of St. Anne, daughter of King Carlo Emanuele I.

The pope's decision put an end to 10 days of uncertainty about the religious aspects of the marriage. When the betrothal first was announced it was supposed the pope already had granted the dispensation. This was immediately denied by the Vatican with the statement that sanction could not be given unless Boris promised in writing children of the union would be reared as Catholics.

Monsignor Roncalli, apostolic visitor to Bulgaria, left secretly for Sofia today. It was stated here that Boris also had returned to Bulgaria.

FLORIDA COURT ORDERS HOLLYWOOD DEBT PAID

County Must Levy Taxes To Pay Port Construction Bonds.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Oct. 15.—(AP)—The state supreme court today issued an alternative writ of mandamus directing the Broward county port authority, Broward county commissioners and S. A. Cromarrie, as tax assessor, to levy sufficient taxes this year to make bond payment due the city of Hollywood.

The writ was made returnable Tuesday, October 28.

In its application for the writ, the city of Hollywood alleged it sold $2,000,000 worth of bonds for the construction of Port Everglades, that part of the site of the port was within the city limits. The city further alleged that it deeded land and transferred the balance of the bond funds to the port authority under an agreement with the authority to complete the construction of the port, pay the city the principal and interest on the bonds. The city claimed that the port authority failed to pay and failed to make provision for payment in the tax assessment roll and the county current budget for the fiscal year.

The city's petition further stated that the bonded debt of the port authority district was $4,028,000 and that all taxable property within the district was $8,412,820.

CUBAN PRESIDENT URGES SUGAR PLAN

HAVANA, Oct. 15.—(AP)—In a proclamation to the sugar growers of Cuba, President Machado today asked full co-operation with the plan recently submitted by Thomas L. Chadbourne, chairman of the Cuban-American sugar committee, for the disposition of a 1,500,000-ton estimated surplus, which will be carried over into next season.

The Chadbourne plan, calling for the retirement from the market of this carry-over for five years, and the issuance of government bonds to cover its purchase, had previously received the private sanction of the president.

Stating that the present situation in the sugar industry was "acute," and that "drastic action" was necessary, the executive declared he had faith in the "patriotism of producers and the good will of foreign interests" to make the segregation of the carry-over possible.

Harris Charges Deception To Census Bureau Officials

Padding Unemployment Figures Obtained in Recent Enumeration To Aid Hoover, Georgian Declares.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Charging census bureau officials with deception in their treatment of unemployment figures obtained in the new national enumeration, Senator W. J. Harris, of Georgia, in a statement issued today through democratic national committee headquarters, declared that officials of the bureau are putting piecemeal information on the situation in an effort to help the Hoover administration.

Senator Harris, a former director of the census bureau himself, asserted that the "tragic story of unemployment is not being told" in the bureau estimate of the situation of the country. Analyzing figures released thus far by the bureau, he gave it as his opinion that the total number of unemployed throughout the country was somewhere between five and six million rather than the 2,508,151 figure announced by the bureau.

The statement of the Georgia senator follows in full:

"Releasing figures on unemployment by piecemeal, as the bureau of the census is doing, has the appearance of holding back complete information from the public. The full picture of the unemployment situation is not being told. The bureau has already caused alarm in the republican party on the verge of the November congressional election. In its release of August 23 the bureau gave the number of unemployed under Class A as 2,508,151. It is my opinion that there are between 5,000,000 and 6,000,000 people in the United States without jobs—the largest number in the history of the country.

Must Await Figures.

"Final compilation of all the figures gathered by the bureau of the census showing the extent and ramifications of unemployment will not be announced until early in 1937. Until then the public must be content with the statement of August 23, giving the number of unemployed under Class A as 2,508,151, which refers solely to persons out of a job, able to work, and looking for a job. The bureau's questionnaires include six other classes, beginning with B and ending with G.

"Class B refers to persons having jobs but on layoff without pay, excluding those sick or voluntarily idle.

"Class C refers to persons out of a job and unable to work.

"Class D refers to persons having jobs, but idle on account of sickness or disability.

"Class E refers to persons out of a job and not looking for work.

"Class F refers to persons having jobs but voluntarily idle without pay.

"Class G refers to persons having jobs and drawing pay, though not at work—on vacation, etc.

"Although official figures relating to Classes B, C, D, E, F and G were

Saloon Keeper Fails To Retrieve Receipts

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 15.—

(UN)—George Verrast came into federal court Tuesday and demanded his money.

"The 1451 you fellows found in that speakeasy till is mine, and the government ought to give it back to me," he explained.

"Sure," said George S. Fitzgerald, assistant district attorney. "Just step up here and put your hand on the Bible and swear that this money is yours and you can have it right now."

Verrast pondered. "There's some sort of law about this, isn't there?" he ventured.

"Well," said Fitzgerald, "there is a little statute which says something about five years for running a speakeasy. The Jones law, I think they call it."

Verrast considered more deeply. "No," he said, finally shaking his head. "I've changed my mind. I guess it's not my money after all."

obtained concurrently with those grouped under Class A they are not to be announced until some time early in 1937. Their disclosure at this time would throw light in dark places that conceal the extent of unemployment under the Hoover "guaranteed prosperity administration."

Figures Manipulated.

"It is a curious manipulation of figures which includes only as unemployed persons out of a job, able to work, and looking for a job, and at the same time excludes persons laid off without pay because of the cessation of their employment. Under this unique system of calculation thousands of railroad employes and coal miners, for example, laid off without pay and looking for work, are not considered unemployed, as unemployment is defined in Class A. The distinction is patently counterfeit and will not be accepted by the jobless willing to work but who are denied the opportunity because of nation-wide unemployment.

"Manifestly the tragic story of unemployment is not told in the census bureau's 2,508,151 idle under Class A. Secretary Davis, of the department of labor, obviously had Class B lay off unemployed in mind when in an address delivered last March he estimated the number of such jobless as much larger.

"In the report of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, issued October 6, 1935, appears this statement: 'We estimate that unemployment averaged 3,700,000 wage earners during the first six months of 1935—not including farm laborers or office workers.'

"Even these figures contain an indictment of the republican party."

Charles Hawkins Goes on Trial In Nell Hardin Blackmail Case

Charles Hawkins (left) and Nell Hardin (right) as they appeared in the courtroom Wednesday during the trial of the former in connection with an alleged assault on and extortion of $250 from Dr. Iverson C. Case (center). Nell Hardin and four others were named in the indictment with Hawkins.

"Victim" and Woman Tell Conflicting Stories of Alleged Assault and Extortion.

Character of Charles Hawkins, defendant on trial in Fulton superior court on a charge of assault on Dr. Iverson C. Case in an alleged blackmail scheme, was placed in issue Wednesday afternoon by the defense. Contradictory testimony as to the manner of the alleged assault was offered by Dr. Case, the prosecutor, and Miss Nell Hardin, a co-defendant with Hawkins.

Dr. Case told the jury he was called to Miss Hardin's apartment on a professional visit and was asked by the woman to step into a bedroom. Hardly had he entered the room when he was struck a severe blow by Hawkins and his glasses were knocked off, Dr. Case said. While trying to protect himself he was pushed onto the bed and Hawkins, Miss Hardin, Raymond Williams and Dempsey Darr sat upon him, he added. Dr. Case said he was accused by Hawkins first of trying to assault the woman and later of trying to perform a criminal operation on her. Hawkins said he would let him go if he would give a check, which he agreed to do in order to escape, Dr. Case said.

Miss Hardin swore that Dr. Case attempted to "take advantage" of her and that Hawkins rushed to her rescue. She claimed Dr. Case wrote her the $250 check voluntarily. Police officers testified to finding the check in her possession. The state introduced testimony that Hawkins rented the apartment. Miss Hardin testified that she got Hawkins to handle it for her as her representative.

Attorney Reuben A. Garland, of the defense, moved for a directed verdict of acquittal with an attack on the indictment, but was overruled. Assistant Solicitor-General Ed A. Stephens and J. Walter LeCraw are conducting the prosecution. Hawkins was acquitted Tuesday when tried on an automobile larceny charge.

Defendants under blackmail, assault and robbery indictments growing out of Dr. Case's complaint, are Miss Hardin, Hawkins, Williams, Darr, John Henry Smith and J. B. Nabors. Nabors and Williams pleaded guilty Tuesday to an automobile larceny indictment.

The trial of Hawkins before Judge E. D. Thomas will be resumed at 9 o'clock this morning.

MILK CAPITALIST FACES POSSIBLE ARREST

Charles V. Bob Wanted for Questioning in Stock Manipulation.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Assistant Attorney-General Washburn announced today that Charles V. Bob, missing banker, capitalist and engineer, faces possible arrest unless he returns to New York state within two days. The state wants to question him concerning Metal & Mining Shares, Inc., and Rainbow Luminous Products Company.

Washburn said examination of two officials of the Metal & Mining Shares, of which Bob was chairman of the board, had disclosed that a list of stocks filed with his office by the corporation, showing securities on loan to the value of more than $6,000,000 had been falsified.

The men questioned, George L. Johnson, president of the firm, and Louis P. Jubel, treasurer, told Washburn, he said, that they had signed the report to the bureau of securities without knowledge of its contents. Washburn said filing of false information with his office was a misdemeanor punishable by two years in jail.

Meanwhile, the state prosecutor was attempting to trace a telephone call to an official of Metal & Mining Shares by a man who said he was Frederick Russell, Bob's secretary. Russell vanished with the banker.

The caller, Washburn said, told an officer of the company not to try to trace him, saying "I am leaving here in five minutes. Don't try to get me. I am no longer with Bob."

Bob has been a well-known figure in New York. He was known as an "angel of aviation," a friend of prominent financiers, a patron of church and science. Comparatively little is publicly known of his early career.

'Town Bands' To Hear Sousa Play in Atlanta

Members of "town bands" from a dozen cities within easy motoring distance of Atlanta are planning to hear Sousa and his band when the "March King" brings his famous organization to the Atlanta auditorium October 23, according to letters received by Daley Glass, in charge of local arrangements.

Almost every fair-sized town in north Georgia has its band, and many of the large textile mills have organizations of which they are extremely proud.

Atlanta and Fulton county schools are expected to fill the big auditorium at the matinee concert, which will start at 3:30, after the close of the school session.

John Philip Sousa will conduct both concerts in person, his invariable rule. The sale of tickets will start next Thursday.

Georgia Ratio of Divorce Recorded as Lowest in U. S.

Only One Out of Thirteen Marital Knots Severed in State; National Figure One Out of Six.

For every divorce granted by the courts of Georgia in 1929, a fraction more than 13 marriages were recorded.

While there were 32,534 marriages in 1929 as compared with 30,400 in 1928—a net increase of 7 per cent—there were 2,441 divorces in 1929 as compared with 2,174—a net increase of 12.3 per cent. The proportion of divorces to marriages for 1929 was 0.84 as compared with 0.75 for 1928.

Figures giving the Empire state of the south the lowest ratio of divorces to new unions among all the states of the Union were released by the department of commerce Wednesday.

While 1,222.50 couples in the nation were getting wed in 1929 the government's figures reveal approx-mately one-fifth of that number, or 240,475, were obtaining and did obtain divorces.

MARRIAGES DURING 1929 REGISTER GREAT INCREASE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(P)—Matrimony claimed 1,222,500 couples in the United States last year, while during the same period 240,475 divorces were recorded.

The preliminary report on the 1929 matrimonial statistics, issued today by the department of commerce, showed 101 marriages were performed for every 1,000 of population, while divorces totaled 1.06 per thousand.

The marriages recorded one of the largest yearly increases, numerically and in percentage, exceeding the preceding year's total by 50,002, or 4.2 per cent. There had been a decrease the preceding year of 1.5 by comparison with 1927. The divorces, although showing an increase of 2.8 per cent over 1928, could not keep up with the growth in marriages.

The ratio of divorces to marriages, computed by the department in response to numerous requests, showed that for each 6.1 marriages performed one couple was dissolved. The year before the ratio was an even 6 to 1.

Nevada was the outstanding leader among the states both in marriage and divorce. Divorces total 2,533 and were 28 per 1,000 of population, but the rate of marriages per 1,000 was 63.7. This was attributed largely by the government statisticians to the adoption of strict marriage laws by its neighbor, California. The same reason was given for Arizona's ratio of 17.3 per 1,000, the second highest.

Delaware had the lowest figure on marriages, only 5.2 per 1,000 with North Carolina close upon it with 6. North Carolina showed a considerable decrease from the preceding year, the statisticians said, because of a law requiring five days' notice prior to issuance of licenses to those under 21.

Georgia had the lowest proportion of divorces to marriages, one being granted only to each 13.3 new unions. In Nevada, there was 1 divorce to each 2.3 marriages.

Numerically, Texas led in divorces, with 18,386; Illinois next with 15,760; Ohio had 15,313, and California 15,000. The only other state having more than 10,000 divorces was Michigan with 11,981.

New York reported the most marriages, with 121,535; Illinois had 84,092; Pennsylvania 70,507; Ohio 65,679; Texas 63,173, and California completed the more than 50,000 class with 51,866.

Child Journalists Win Legal Tilt With Oil Firm

JAMAICA, N. Y., Oct. 15.—(UN)—Journalism, as represented by Charles and Marcia Bacon, 13 and 15 years old, respectively, won an important victory when Municipal Court Justice Kadien awarded them a verdict of $182 against the Petro Oil Company.

The Bacon children edit and business manage the Douglaston Weekly, a paper that appears every Saturday, and boasts of a circulation that "covers every home in Douglaston."

The weekly has eight pages, is three columns wide and nine inches deep and the community's youngsters sell copies at 5 cents apiece to commuters as they alight at Suburbia from Manhattan, across the East river.

But, as every publisher knows, there is another source of revenue—advertising. That is what led to the suit against the oil company brought by Mrs. Lillian Bacon, as guardian ad litem for her children. The $182 represented a contract for 14 full page ads at a cost of $13 a page.

It was testified at the trial that a salesman for the oil company called at the business offices of the paper last December, bought and paid for one full page and signed a contract for the others. The salesman is no longer employed by the company.

Defense counsel argued that the contract was unauthorized but Judge Kadien, in making known his decision today, ruled that the company knew the ad was being published and that the children expected to be paid and yet had not cancelled the order.

The youthful journalists are the children of Gerald Bacon, theatrical producer. This affiliation enables the weekly to include a page of dramatic criticism and to announce naively that the reviewer is "not being paid with money, but with tickets."

EX-CONVICT ADMITS KILLING GIRL, 17

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 15.—(P)—Mystery surrounding the disappearance of Miss Avis Woolery, 17, last August 17, dissolved today with the confession of Paul Kaufman, 31-year-old ex-convict, that he strangled the girl to death and buried her body in a shallow grave in Swope park.

The body of the comely Webb City (Mo.) girl, who came here in response to Kaufman's false promise of employment as a nursemaid, was found Sunday with a pair of women's hose bound around the neck.

Kaufman admitted in a written confession that he met the girl at the Union station here last August 17 and that they had gone to the park together. He told police orally he assaulted her.

All Italy Pays Honor To Memory of Virgil

MANTUA, Italy, Oct. 15.—(P)—All Italy today celebrated the two thousandth anniversary of the birth of the poet, Virgil. Mantua, where he was born, Naples where he lived and wrote; Rome, where he enjoyed the protection and friendship of the emperor, Augustus, and Brindisi, where he died, all joined in rendering the celebration a fit tribute to the immortal memory of the epicist.

Here at Mantua, where in the year 70 B. C. Virgil breathed his first, in a Virgilian woods, embracing thousands of trees and plants mentioned by the poet in his Aeneid, Eclogues and Georgics, the celebration was inaugurated. The woods, on the banks of the River Mincio, was filled with city and national authorities, classical scholars, townsmen and visitors. There were speeches and in the evening fireworks.

Visitors who inquired whether the house in which Virgil was born is still standing were shown several ancient dwellings, but no one can point definitely to any one house as certain of that honor. Giuseppe Abbiati, member of the Academy of Italy, and a Virgilian scholar, guided the more important among the visitors.

EARLY TO FACE SECOND CHARGE OF BURGLARY

Regenstein Fur Robbery Case Will Open Friday.

Trial of William R. Early, sentenced Thursday to serve five to ten years on a charge of burglarizing the Beck & Gregg Hardware Company, is scheduled Friday on an indictment charging that he and his wife, Daisy Early, and Don H. Hargrave broke into the J. Regenstein Company store on Peachtree street and stole valuable furs.

Sentence on the Beck & Gregg charge was given Earl Camp of Dublin, presiding this week for Judge John D. Humphries, of Fulton superior court. Attorney F. Joe Turner immediately filed a motion for a new trial. It was set for November 22.

Tilt With Doctor Cause Of Famous Dawes Pipe

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—(UN)—Origin of the famous Dawes under-land pipe is revealed for the first time in a biography of Brigadier General Charles G. Dawes, written by a Chicago newspaperman.

The book, "That Man Dawes," is written by Paul R. Leach, of the Chicago Daily News and published by Regis & Lee, of Chicago.

Dawes, it seems, never used to smoke a pipe, instead he consumed 20 slender, black cheroots a day. His doctor ordered him to cut his smoking in half. So Dawes then began to smoke 10 fat cigars a day, each exactly twice the size of his former cheroots. That didn't satisfy the physician.

About that time a Chicago inventor heard of Dawes' smoking difficulties and sent him a sample under-land pipe, with a written sales talk about its patent construction catching most of the nicotine and impurities in the smoke. Dawes, duly impressed by the printed circular, has smoked a similar pipe regularly ever since.

The author details Dawes' many battles with the senate during his term as vice president and then, ironically, dedicates the biography "to the United States senate."

REPORT ON DRY LAWS TO COME AFTER VOTING

Wickersham Group Gives Up All Hope of Pre-Election Statement.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(P)—Hope for any announcement on prohibition before the election was abandoned today by the law enforcement commission as it found its task "tremendous" even after digesting the reports of investigators.

After today's session, which three members were unable to attend, Chairman Wickersham said an adjournment would be taken on Friday until November 5, the day after the election. At that time, in response to a demand by a group of commission members, prohibition will become the order of business.

While some of the special committee which gathered the facts for the prohibition report are prepared to submit some very definite conclusions, it

BRIAND IS RECOVERING FROM GRIPPE ATTACK

PARIS, Oct. 15.—(P)—Foreign Minister Briand still was confined to his apartments in the ministry of foreign affairs today but was said to be well on the way toward convalescence from his recent attack of the gripple. The veteran diplomat is remaining indoors as a precautionary measure.

was agreed after two meetings today that the preliminary work of assembling the data would forestall an immediate decision by the commission on prohibition.

Nevertheless, commission members reported "progress" tonight in their work and there was a general expression from them that everything was moving ahead harmoniously. There has been no effort so far to line up any group within the commission behind any proposal.

It is unlikely that the three unable to attend today, Newton D. Baker, of Ohio; Federal Circuit Judge William S. Kenyon, of Iowa; and Frank J. Loesch, of Chicago, will be able to get here before the adjournment this week and for that reason no decisions of importance are expected before then.

Work and Entertainment Are Combined For Funeral Directors at Convention

Taking time out for discussion of more serious matters of business, officers and delegates to the National Funeral Directors' Association convention here this week attended an old-fashioned Georgia barbecue at the East Lake Country Club Wednesday. Left to right are Harry Bosse, of Louisville, Ky., past president of the association; Leon T. Wahl, of Kansas City, member of the board of governors; Harry Gilligan, of Cincinnati, president; Ewing Griffin, of Jackson, Tenn., and John P. Scottish Beauty Weds Impetuous Potentate

LONDON, Oct. 15.—(AP)—A whirlwind courtship reached a climax at noon today in the marriage at the registry office of the powerful sultan of Johore, reputedly one of the richest rulers of the east, and Mrs. Helen Wilson, an auburn-haired Scottish beauty.

More Than 2,000 Delegates and Wives Here To Discuss Business Problems of Profession.

Business problems, followed by an afternoon and evening of sightseeing and other entertainment, occupied the first day's session of the 49th annual convention of the National Funeral Directors' Association, which opened Wednesday morning at the city auditorium. More than 2,000 delegates and their wives were in Atlanta for the three-day meeting.

A business session opened the convention Wednesday morning, during which discussions were held after invocation and a round of song service. The meeting then was adjourned and the delegates were taken to the East Lake Country Club, where an old-fashioned Georgia barbecue was served. Wednesday night a "grand cotton ball" was staged in the ballroom of the Shrine mosque.

Sessions will be resumed this morning, with forenoon and afternoon meetings to follow until noon Friday, at which time the convention will adjourn. Additional phases of entertainment were on the program both for the delegates and their wives.

One of the features of Wednesday's session was the contest developing over the 1931 convention city. Cleveland, Philadelphia, Detroit, Milwaukee and Louisville sent active delegations to secure the meeting.

The initial meeting was opened officially by Governor L. G. Hardman, who extended a cordial welcome to the delegates. John M. Martin, of Elizabeth, N. J., former president of the association, responded. Following the addresses of welcome and response, the annual report of the president was read by Harry J. Gilligan, of Cincinnati, who informed the delegates that the association's budget for the ensuing year provides approximately $66,000 to be spent in a program of research along lines suggested by the department of commerce, as well as for a campaign for progressive legislation.

A large exhibit room in the auditorium attracted attention of the delegates to displays of modern equipment.

ARKANSAS WOMAN KILLS MATE, SELF

EUDORA, Ark., Oct. 15.—(AP)—Mrs. Fannie Ferris, 39, shot and killed her husband, R. E. Ferris, 41, a merchant, and fatally wounded herself at their home here late last night. A telephone operator whom Ferris had just called and asked to send an officer to his home at once, heard the shot that killed Ferris after he had cried: "My God, don't shoot me, Fannie."

Mrs. Ferris had been in ill health for three years and had threatened several times to kill her husband and herself, neighbors told officers. The two quarreled last night and presumably Mrs. Ferris again threatened her husband's life.

He called the telephone operator and told her to send the city marshal or his deputy at once.

The operator then heard him cry out: "My God, don't shoot me, Fannie," and a pistol shot followed.

Officers rushed to the Ferris home and found him on the front porch. He was still alive but died before he could be placed in an automobile.

On a floor in the house lay Mrs. Ferris critically wounded. She asked about her husband and when told by the officers that he was dead, she said: "Then let me die, too."

O'Neill Works on Play In Secluded Chateau

TOURS, France, Oct. 15.—(AP)—The Chateau du Plessis, a cozy castle snugly hidden in the center of a large park on the northern slope of the valley of the Choiseille, a little brook shaded by willow trees, is the spot Eugene O'Neill has selected to write his new play.

The American dramatist works mostly at night and keeps himself in the severest seclusion. The access to the chateau is restricted to invited guests, and they are few.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Neill, the former Carlotta Monterey, have been residing here since the spring of 1929. Mr. O'Neill said he would remain a year and a half and that his health was never better.

CHICAGOAN SEES ERA OF 'SANE PROSPERITY'

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Signs of the business trail reveal a period of "distinctly sane prosperity" just ahead according to George Woodruff, prominent Chicago banker.

Woodruff, chairman of the board of the National Bank of the Republic, told delegates to the Grain and Feed Dealers' National Association's convention, that his prediction was based upon a comparison of conditions immediately after the war, and those of 1907, 1914, 1920-21, and those apparent now.

Bank at present have the highest liquidity of the past quarter century and other prosperity factors are more abundant now than in any similar depression of that period, he said.

"There were more reasons for predicting 'three long years of liquidation' in 1921 than now," the banker pointed out, "and business recovered quickly then."

Advantages of the current over preceding eras of economic stress, he said, were the easing of money, industrial peace and political stability.

$5,000,000

Peace Garden Plan Launched

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Gardeners of the United States and Canada, banqueting here tonight, started a $5,000,000 international peace garden project.

Some spot in eastern New York, perhaps in the vicinity of Buffalo, and contiguous to Ontario province, Canada, was considered the most likely location though no definite site has been selected.

Donald J. Crichton, of Convent, N. J., president-elect of the National Association of Gardeners sponsoring the peace garden as part of its national convention now in session here, announced an open competition for landscape gardeners to plot the border-line flower-and-shrubbery symbol of the century-long amity between the two nations.

Their blueprints, he declared, would have to encompass more than 1,000 acres, half on Canadian soil, half on United States soil. Arbors and terraces, beds and borders would have to be conceived to include traditional flowers of each state in the Union, each province in the Dominion. For the more tropic blooms of south and southwest, he explained, conservatories would have to be planned.

How Do You Feel When They Say "Let's Go to the Kitchen"

Mrs. Jones, the charming hostess above, must have quaked in her dainty shoes at the words. However, "Let's go to the kitchen" should mean "Let's start the most interesting part of the party in one of the most interesting spots in the house."

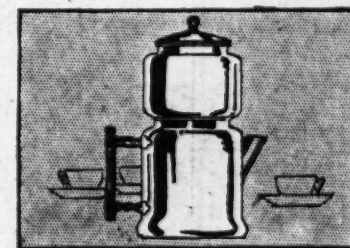

A far cry from the day when "company" saw only a musty sitting room, and the dining room in its best dress.

The modern party somehow seem to gravitate from the living room to the kitchen—taking for granted that its hostess has a kitchen ready to receive her most critical guest.

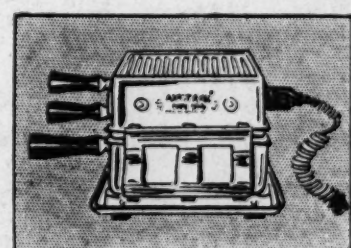

A kitchen today must be more than efficient—it must be charming as well. Curtains and floor covering, pots and pans, cabinets and walls....in short, everything from the broom to the kitchen stove must work together in harmony.

"Let's Go to the Kitchen"

Plant Atkinson Is Groomed For Dedication Ceremonies

Power Company. Chairman To Throw Switch Friday Placing Huge Unit in Operation.

With every one of its myriad parts carefully groomed, Plant Atkinson, new 100,000-horsepower steam-electric generating station of the Georgia Power Company and one of the largest single industrial plants ever constructed in Georgia, stands ready for ceremonies dedicating it and putting it into service Friday morning at the site on the Chattahoochee river, in Cobb county, 10 miles from Atlanta. A free special train will leave the Atlanta Terminal station at 9:45 a. m. Friday, running directly to the plant. The train will leave Plant Atkinson at 2 p. m. to return to Atlanta. Free motor coach service also will be provided by the company from the end of the River car line to Plant Atkinson and return, beginning at 9:45 a. m. To transport Marietta and Cobb county residents, a special two-car interurban train will leave Marietta at 9:15 a. m. and will be operated over the Atlanta Northern line to Bolton, where passengers will be transferred to coaches for transportation to the plant. The train will leave Bolton for Marietta on the return trip at 2 p. m. Transportation on this train and the coaches will be free.

Atkinson Throws Switch. The dedication exercises will begin at 10:45 o'clock and will reach their climax when H. M. Atkinson, chairman of the board of the company and organizer of the first electric light system in Atlanta nearly a half a century ago, will open the throttle admitting the steam to the giant turbine and then will close the switches putting the vast quantity of power generated at Plant Atkinson on the transmission lines of the company. Throughout the network of these lines, which extend over approximately two-thirds of the state of Georgia, hands on dials will flicker and meters will surge forward as electric energy equal to the might of 800,000 men is

TRAIN AND COACH SERVICE TO PLANT

Free transportation by train and motor coach will be furnished Atlantans desiring to attend the exercises at Plant Atkinson Friday, while for citizens of Marietta a special two-car interurban trolley train has been arranged by the Georgia Power Company. Details of this service are contained in the accompanying story.

For Atlanta motorists unacquainted with the location of the new steam plant, directions have been issued. They are: Cross the river bridge at the end of the car line, proceeding out state highway No. 8 about three-quarters of a mile, where large signs are posted indicating the location of the plant site.

poured forth from the largest electric generating station constructed in Georgia since the completion of the Tallulah Falls hydroelectric plant in 1920. The actual energizing of Plant Atkinson and the "synchronization" of the plant with the rest of the power company's system will mark the close of 16 months of construction work and testing. During that time from 400 to 600 men have worked steadily, at times both night and day, to build the great structure which houses the plant and to install the mechanical wonderland of equipment which is contained within its brick, steel and concrete walls. In wages paid to workmen alone the new plant has cost several hundred thousand dollars paid out in Atlanta during a period of slack business conditions.

Speaking Program. At the close of the speaking program, which will include addresses by Judge Samuel H. Sibley, of the United States district court, and Eugene R. Black, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta, the plant will be dedicated by P. S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Power Company. Mr. Atkinson will respond and Jackson P. Dick, Jr., and Henry M. Dick, his grandsons, will unveil a tablet at the entrance of the plant which commemorates Mr. Atkinson's service to the electric industry and to Georgia.

Then the big plant itself will assume the leading role on the program. Mr. Atkinson will turn the wheel which opens the throttle sending the steam rushing against the hundreds of blades on the turbine wheels. The turbine will hit its stride of 1,800 revolutions a minute and the generator will take up the task of producing 100,000 horsepower of electric energy. Mr. Atkinson will assume the role of chief operator and will close the switch releasing 100,000 horsepower of electric energy, enough to take care of every electrical requirement of Atlanta.

While the plant is being prepared for the inspection of visitors, which will require about 30 minutes, a free box luncheon will be served and music will be furnished by the Georgia Power Company band. All who wish to see the plant then will be escorted through it by expert guides.

Municipal Delegations. Three cities, Atlanta, Decatur and Marietta, will be represented officially at the dedication by municipal officers and civic delegations. Acting Mayor Everett Millican will represent Atlanta. Mayor T. M. Brumby will attend on behalf of Marietta, and Acting Mayor C. A. Matthews will represent Decatur. In addition, civic organizations of Atlanta, Decatur and Marietta will send large delegations. Among the civic bodies which have appointed delegations in addition to those already published are the Georgia Manufacturers' Association, to be represented by T. M. Brumby, Robert Gregg and Robert S. Parker; American Business Club, Atlanta; E. O. Johnson, president; H. C. Holbrook, J. M. Keelin, Jr., and B. F. Stovall; Atlanta Safety Council; Jere Wells, C. C. FARM PRICES LOSE AUGUST'S GAINS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(AP)—The department of agriculture said today a gain in the average of farm prices made during September has probably been lost this month. An increase of three points in the index of farm prices during the month August 15 to September 15, was attributed largely to prospects for smaller supplies in some commodities due to the drought. Since then, however, prices have declined.

The farm price index, at 111 on September 15, was 30 points below a year ago, despite the increase from 108.

THOMPSON DEMANDS OPPONENT RESIGN

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Mayor William Hale Thompson today demanded the resignation of Commissioner of Compensation John A. Pelka on the ground that Pelka planned to support County Reviewer Charles V. Barrett in the next mayoralty campaign. He had appointed Pelka to office.

Political seers who have been predicting that Thompson would ask the election declared this incident was ample proof. In complying with Thompson's request that he resign, Pelka admitted that he planned to support Barrett.

INVESTMENT BANKERS ELECT HENRY FERRIS

Silas Strawn Warns Against Municipalities Running Far in Debt.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 15.—(AP)—The Investment Bankers' Association of America today concluded its convention after hearing Silas H. Strawn, Chicago attorney and banker, warn of the danger of municipalities issuing obligations in excess of revenue.

Mr. Strawn's address, the election of officers, and the reception of remaining committee reports, constituted the program of the final session. Henry T. Ferris, of St. Louis, was elected president of the association, succeeding Trowbridge Callaway, of New York.

Strawn, speaking at the convention's request on his connection with the straightening out of Chicago's financial difficulties, vigorously protested against governmental extravagance and the issuance of governmental securities not warranted by proportionately increasing revenue. He said that Chicago's experience might serve as an illustration to other cities of what might happen if supply of revenue is stopped.

"Trouble comes to cities," he affirmed, "not when debts are incurred, but when these debts must be paid." Citing statistics, Strawn asserted that from 1913 to 1927 the total cost of municipal, state and federal government had increased from $3,000,000,000 to $12,000,000,000, with the expectation that in 1930 it will amount to $13,500,000,000. In the same period, he went on, government expenditures increased fourfold, while population increased only 15 per cent. "Public expenditures absorb 14 per cent of our national income," Strawn affirmed. "How much larger can the tax burden become without confiscation?"

The Chicago attorney urged that Missouri Posse Finds Traces of Man Who Held Mrs. McKinley.

GREENFIELD, Mo., Oct. 15.—(AP)—A man believed to be the abductor of Mrs. Alma Wilson McKinley, daughter of a wealthy oil man, was surrounded late today in a thicket near Filley, Mo., by a small posse which sent out a call for additional men before closing in.

The posse, composed of only a few men, hesitated to attempt to capture the man until more help arrived. The trail of the man was picked up near Eldorado, Mo., by bloodhounds at the place where Mrs. McKinley was held prisoner for nearly a day. She was released late yesterday after promising to bring the man $10,000 and not reveal where she had been held.

The posse this afternoon found a small grip near the place, containing a suit of clothes which would fit the man described by Mrs. McKinley as her abductor.

The ashes of the paper on which a demand for $30,000 ransom money had been written and later burned, were also found. The posse, divided into several sections, stopped and searched every car they saw today. This morning they caught two bands of bootleggers with liquor in cars.

Mrs. McKinley, who is an expectant mother, was exhausted after the ordeal in which she had gone without food or sleep.

MOTHERS now learn value of MAGNESIA

Because it is so helpful in keeping babies and children healthy and happy, every mother should learn all about Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. This harmless, almost tasteless preparation is most effective in relieving those symptoms of babies and children generally caused by souring food in the little digestive tract, such as sour belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, colic. As a mild laxative, it acts gently, but certainly, to open the little bowels in constipation, colds, children's diseases.

A teaspoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia does the work of half a pint of lime water in neutralizing co's milk for infant feeding, and preventing hard curds. Its many uses for mother and child are fully explained in the interesting book, "Useful Information." It will be sent you FREE. Write The Phillips Co., 170 Varick St., New York, N. Y. In buying, be sure to get only genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years.—(adv.)

If you're tired at 4 o'clock get something to eat that's Sweet

Nearly every business makes its greatest demands on the worker from mid-afternoon on. Yet that is invariably the "zero hour" so far as vitality is concerned. Refined sugar in any form supplies quick nourishment and overcomes mid-afternoon fatigue.

RECENT scientific investigations have proved that the eating of sweet cakes, a few pieces of candy, a dish of ice cream or the drinking of a sweet beverage—even a glass of water sweetened with sugar—will revive one in an amazing way when mid-afternoon fatigue sets in.

The reason for this lies in the quick digestibility of sugar.

There are few food products which nourish the body so speedily. And when the system is nourished, fatigue is noticeably decreased.

It pays to eat something sweet when you are tired. Foods sweetened with refined sugar always are safe. The Sugar Institute.

Dies of Starvation With Funds in Hand

HAVANA, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Miguel Fernandez Calero, a Spaniard, fell dead of hunger on a Havana street today, although in his pockets there was enough money to feed a regiment of men.

When Calero's emaciated body was lifted from a gutter, three $1,000 bills and $52.30 in change tumbled from his pockets.

Investigation showed that the Spaniard had withdrawn this money, representing his life's savings, from a bank two weeks ago when a financial panic threatened.

Demands Early Trial, Is Ordered to Jail

TOMS RIVER, N. J., Oct. 15.—(UN)—James Burkhitt was so eager to go to trial today that he was ordered to jail until he cooled off.

An indictment charging conspiracy to defraud in a bond transaction has been hanging over Burkhitt for a year. He has been at liberty in $5,000 bail and persistently has demanded that he be placed on trial. A crowded calendar, however, operated against him.

Today he was especially vehement. It was when he shouted, "Where's this Jersey justice I hear so much about?" that Judge Gallagher ordered him to jail. After a half-hour Burkhitt reported a drop in temperature and the court then promised disposition of his case next week.

HIGHWAY BANDITS HOLD UP AUTOISTS

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., Oct. 15.—(P)—Two unmasked highway bandits held up Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Smith, of Miami, and robbed them of $500 in cash, a $500 Liberty bond and jewelry valued at $200 two miles north of here tonight. The Smiths were returning to Miami from Columbus, Ga., when their motor car stalled. Smith was repairing the car when the bandits drove alongside and offered assistance. One of the men pushed a revolver against Smith's stomach and rifled his clothes, while the other grappled with Mrs. Smith in an unsuccessful effort to remove a diamond ring from her finger.

An approaching automobile frightened the bandits who speeded northward in a large black sedan. The Smiths notified police here of the robbery and authorities along the east coast have been asked to watch for the men.

Poolroom License Petitions Vetoed by Police Committee

Property Owners on Marietta Street Oppose Issuance of Permits to Two Operators.

Members of the council police commission Wednesday night declined to approve application for renewal of licenses for operation of poolrooms at 31 and 35 1-2 Marietta street.

Vote on the measure was unanimous for the three members present, Councilman W. Paul Carpenter, vice chairman, who presided in the absence of Alderman J. Charlie Murphy, chairman; Tom Smith and Nelson T. Spatt.

Hugh Howell, prominent Atlanta attorney, represented property owners in protesting the petition for the renewal, and presented a petition signed by virtually every occupant and owner of a building in the block affected.

Action was taken following appeals by Judge John S. Candler, Frank H. Berry, cashier of the First National bank, and many other influential citizens in that area.

Mr. Candler pointed out that Marietta street is the heart of the financial district, probably will continue to be, and asked the committee to take steps barring occupancy of any of the property by any business which would react to the detriment of other property owners.

In addition, the committee approved an ordinance offered by Mr. Carpenter establishing a quiet zone around the Atlanta postoffice building and the Fulton county courthouse; ordered patrolmen and other officers to be especially vigilant in their attempts to prevent robberies and burglaries, and advised a proposed ordinance by Councilman Joseph E. Berman, of the fourth ward, seeking to prevent tag sales from coming more frequently than every 15 days.

Many occupants of buildings in the vicinity of the two poolrooms, one located at 31 Marietta street, and the other operated by E. G. Pursley at 35 1-2 Marietta, testified that the places were nuisances because of the crowds of undesirable who frequented them.

"Two young women came to my office this afternoon and asked me to come down here," Judge Candler said. "They declared they could not pass the place after 5 o'clock in the afternoon without running the risk of having ungentlemanly things said about them in their hearing."

"I believe Marietta street is the coming section of Atlanta. I have shown my faith in this by making virtually all my real estate investments on the street."

In summing up the case, Mr. Howell pointed out that the petition was advanced last year, but that it later was granted by council.

"We hope that council will see fit to deny these permits this year in the interest of the many millions of dollars invested in the area. We are not attempting to legislate these men out of business, but do feel that they could conduct their businesses in other sections of Atlanta."

"Every property owner in that area including bankers, merchants, office building owners and others have

Husband Kept at Home By Cutting Trousers

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Oct. 15.—(UN)—Something approaching the zenith in wifely ignominy was described in supreme court today where Walter L. Schmidt, electrical engineer, was opposing the separation suit brought by Mrs. Irene Schmidt.

Schmidt testified that on one night in November, 1929, he was expected as a guest at a dinner given by the company which employed him.

"But my wife thought that I was meeting some other woman," he went on. "She went into my room and took my evening suit. She cut off the trouser legs, slit the vest and ripped the coat apart."

signed this petition asking the committee and council to adverse the petition.

If the quiet zone measure is approved by council, it will react to eliminate noise in the vicinity of the postoffice and courthouse buildings. In presenting the paper, Mr. Carpenter declared that courts in session can not function properly because of the honking of automobile horns, clanging of trolley car bells, automobiles running with cut-outs open and similar "unnecessary noises."

Calling attention to the many robberies, the committee instructed Chief James L. Beavers to post a notice ordering officers to be especially vigilant in efforts to prevent them.

Georgia Toxin-Antitoxin Distribution Is Increased

State Board of Health Accepts Offer of Bankers' Health and Life Insurance Company.

Plans for increasing the distribution of toxin-antitoxin to 400 doses per county, or provision of enough doses to meet the average birth rate in every county in Georgia, were made at the semi-annual meeting of the Georgia state board of health held here Wednesday.

Acceptance of an offer made by Dr. C. L. Ridley, medical director of the Bankers' Health and Life Insurance Company, of Macon, by which the company agrees to supplement the 300 doses the state furnishes, along with the 100 doses provided in most counties, with an extra hundred doses of diphtheria preventive makes the increased distribution of toxin-antitoxin possible. An expenditure of about $2,000 by the insurance company will be made.

Announcement was also made at the annual meeting, which was attended by all but one member of the board, that work on a $3,700 school building for the tubercular child patients at Alto will be started at once. A campaign is planned to erect a similar building for colored tubercular children.

Reduction in the number of deaths in Georgia from smallpox, diphtheria, influenza, tuberculosis, pellagra, cirrhosis of the liver and puerperal septicemia, were reported by Dr. T. L. Abernethy, state health officer. The most pronounced reductions, he said, were in diphtheria, 21 per cent; in influenza, 68 per cent, and pellagra, 12 per cent. Dr. Abernethy also reported a 5 per cent increase in the registration of births.

An increase of 17 to 20 per cent in the number of deaths from typhoid fever was reported, due principally to a dry summer, he said. A decrease in infant mortality of 7.3 per cent was reported.

MRS. NELL OBERLIN ASKS MAIDEN NAME

Mrs. Nell Oberlin, a figure in the trial of Jack Lance for the alleged murder of Bert Donaldson, investigator for the solicitor-general, Wednesday petitioned Fulton superior court for restoration of her maiden name, Nell Caroline Graham. Mrs. Oberlin was divorced from Sells D. Oberlin in December, 1928. She is represented by Attorney Audley M. Lane.

Jack Lance was convicted of Donaldson's murder and sentenced to death. The state supreme court granted him a new trial and the case was later nolle prossed by the solicitor-general. Donaldson was slain in a local hotel room.

Alice Brady, Erlanger Star, Named in Suit for Divorce

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(P)—September exports from the United States amounted to $318,000,000 and imports $227,000,000, leaving a balance of trade favorable to the United States of $91,000,000.

However, the commerce department reported today both exports and imports for the month were smaller than those of any like months for more than a decade, but were higher than like figures for August of this year, when exports were $208,000,000 and imports $218,000,000.

In September last year exports amounted to $437,000,000 and imports $351,000,000.

Commerce department specialists who assembled the figures commented that the fall in commodity prices during the last year, generally estimated to average about 14 per cent, accounted in part for the decline in foreign trade.

Gold movements in September were of less magnitude than those of earlier months this year, but resulted in a net gain of monetary metal for the United States. Gold imports of $13,671,000 were recorded in September against exports of $11,135,000, while for the year to date the United States has gained $185,815,000 in gold by the accumulated monthly excesses of imports over exports.

For the same period in 1929 the net accretion of gold by the United States was $245,142,000.

Silver exports for September were $3,903,000 and imports $3,461,000 as compared with exports of $4,374,000 and imports of $4,111,000 the same month last year. The figures attaching to the silver exchange for the month were much smaller than those of any other month recorded in five years.

Efficient Students Making Money While Attending The Southern Business College

Efficiency Counts—Southern's Reputation Spreads. Students Enrolling From Many Sections.

It pays to attend a good business school—one of long standing and which has made a reputation for thoroughness.

The Southern Business College has never solicited outside work from business firms, and yet the Business Practice Department of this school has been for several weeks, and is now absolutely over-run with clerical work sent in by firms that have learned how rapidly, neatly and accurately the students of the Southern execute their work.

An Inspiration.

It's an inspiring sight for visitors to look through this well-equipped and thoroughly modern business training school and see between four and five hundred pupils in its various departments preparing for positions to be obtained in the Commercial World.

Making Money.

It will interest any one to see these advanced students, as busy as bees in a beehive, making from $2 to $2.50 per day in the Business Practice Department, and, at the same time, carrying on their regular school work.

Mr. J. W. Baker, author of Twentieth Century Bookkeeping, in looking through the Southern said, "I have seen but few Business Practice Departments of business schools that are equal to yours, and none superior."

Mr. Baker visits business schools and colleges throughout the United States, and his statement, therefore, about the Southern's equipment is complimentary indeed.

See The Business Men.

Young men and young women, who contemplate business courses, are urged to make inquiry of a hundred or more hundreds, if convenient, of the outstanding firms of Atlanta concerning the business schools. This is really the very best way to make a selection of your school, if you'll be governed by the recommendations of a majority of those upon whom you call.

Another Good Reason.

Prospective pupils' attention is called to the Emblem of the National Association of Accredited Commercial Schools, accompanying this announcement, and also to the following excerpts taken from the Association's "Book of Information." The Southern, which is a member of this association and has been fully accredited, feels that this information is valuable to those seeking a business education:

High Standards Required.

"This Association is definitely committed to the policy of requiring Accredited schools to do a grade of work and to maintain business and ethical standards that will give them special distinction and definite recognition on the part of the public as superior business training schools."

"Through its Education Committee the Association co-operates with the individual school in the betterment of its course of study, and with the United States Bureau of Education, State Departments, and accrediting agencies of the public school system throughout the United States and Canada in the raising of standards in business education both in private and in public schools."

"The Better Business Bureau desires to establish and maintain in Accredited schools business practices in harmony with the most advanced standards fixed by the Associated Advertising Clubs of the world, the United States Chamber of Commerce and other forces whose purpose is the correction of all types of faults in business administration."

From the foregoing information, therefore, prospective pupils, with great assurance, may feel that they would choose a good school if they should select one belonging to the National Association.

Enroll now. Prepare for prosperous times just ahead. Write for catalog; Address L. W. Arnold, President, Southern Business College, Atlanta, Ga. Phone WA. 8834—(adv.)

Ballistic Trial Seen In Baker Murder Case

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(P)—A court battle between ballistics experts appeared certain today as experts who will defend Herbert M. Campbell, charged with the murder of Miss Mary E. Baker, announced they would contend Campbell's gun did not fire the bullets taken from the young government clerk's body.

Gun experts from the United States bureau of standards and from the crime detection laboratory of Northwestern University already have expressed the opinion that Campbell's revolver was the murder weapon. The Virginia Highlands real estate man is now awaiting trial here.

Dr. Albert H. Hamilton, micro-chemist of Auburn, N. Y., spent considerable time today in matching test bullets fired from Campbell's gun with the two slugs taken from the girl's body, and later told newspapermen they were dissimilar. He said the two slugs bore 20 distinct marks.

"Not a single one of these 20 marks on both of the mortal bullets," he said, "match any of the numerous marks left on the 10 test bullets fired into a wooden chamber packed with cotton. This demonstrates conclusively that the Campbell weapon was not used by the slayer of Miss Baker."

Chemists are attempting to show that powder stains on Miss Baker's clothing were not caused by the Virginia real estate man's gun.

profession, traveling about the country, we try to maintain pleasant relations, of course, and in this company we have done just that.

"Either Mrs. McClelland is mistaken in naming me in her divorce action or the charge is an outrage upon me. All I can say is that there is not the slightest foundation for any charge. Until I have seen a copy of the divorce petition, with its specifications, I cannot say anything else."

The handsome leading man was equally indignant.

"I think it a shame," he declared, "that anybody as fine as Miss Brady should be dragged all over the front page of the newspapers. I consider it an honor to be able to act on the same stage with Miss Brady, and my only connection with her has been a purely business one."

"As for taking trips, they were purely of a business and professional nature. I might have left on any train, but it is natural in this profession for a company to travel together."

"I regret exceedingly that Miss Brady has been mentioned in the matter in any way."

DIVORCE SUIT FILED IN WAYNE COUNTY COURT.
DETROIT, Oct. 15.—(P)—Alice Brady, noted actress and daughter of William Brady, producer, is named co-respondent in a suit filed by Mrs. Bernice McClelland today in Wayne county circuit court seeking a divorce from Donald C. McClelland, actor.

Mrs. McClelland is the daughter of Michael Wiesman, wealthy Detroit automobile dealer.

McClelland and Miss Brady are in Atlanta, Ga., trying out a new play, according to Mrs. McClelland. In her suit Mrs. McClelland charges cruelty, non-support, violence of temper and association with other women.

The divorce bill alleges that Miss Brady made trips to Philadelphia, Boston and Newport with McClelland and entertained him at her New York home, and that he made the Brady home in New York his mailing address.

The McClellands were married in March, 1929, and separated in November, 1929.

Norman Thomas, socialist candidate for congress, in a radio address over the network of the National Broadcasting Company. It is true, he said, "that no political party is responsible for a general depression deeply rooted in the capitalist system—a depression which arises out of man's failure to manage for the common good the machinery, the power, and the natural resources which might abolish poverty."

"Nevertheless those who voted for Hoover and prosperity have got their reward. Nor can great republican leaders, notably ex-President Coolidge, Secretary Andrew Mellon and President Hoover himself be acquitted of responsibility for the Wall Street crash. They neither sought adequately to check a gamblers' mania nor to tell the truth about it."

DRY OFFICERS
HELD FOR MURDER
MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 15.—(P)—T. H. Sullivan and C. C. Lane, deputy sheriffs of Mobile county, were indicted today by a county grand jury on charges of first degree murder in connection with the slaying of Mrs. Thelma Wooten, 24, on August 23 last.

Mrs. Wooten was shot in the back of the head with a pistol bullet when the two officers fired into an automobile at Magazine, Ala. The car was driven by Cloy Davis and occupied by Mrs. Wooten, mother of a two-year-old baby, and Emory Whitehurst, her brother. The testimony of Davis and Whitehurst was that they were returning from a visit to a house where Davis was building when two men fired point-blank into the car from each side of it.

Sullivan admitted shooting at the car, saying that he believed it was a liquor car and that the driver tried to run him down and that a jug was thrown from this car. No evidence of the jug mentioned by the deputies was ever found.

IRENE CASTLE BREAKS
HER COLLAR BONE
CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—(P)—Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin was suffering today from a broken collar bone and bruises which she received yesterday when her horse, a hunter, stepped into a hole approaching a jump. She was thrown to the ground.

The accident occurred as she was riding with her husband, Frederick McLaughlin, west of Lake Forest.

For the same period in 1929 the net accretion of gold by the United States was $245,142,000.

Silver exports for September were $3,903,000 and imports $3,461,000 as compared with exports of $4,374,000 and imports of $4,111,000 the same month last year. The figures attaching to the silver exchange for the month were much smaller than those of any other month recorded in five years.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(P)—September exports from the United States amounted to $318,000,000 and imports $227,000,000, leaving a balance of trade favorable to the United States of $91,000,000.

However, the commerce department reported today both exports and imports for the month were smaller than those of any like months for more than a decade, but were higher than like figures for August of this year, when exports were $208,000,000 and imports $218,000,000.

In September last year exports amounted to $437,000,000 and imports $351,000,000.

Commerce department specialists who assembled the figures commented that the fall in commodity prices during the last year, generally estimated to average about 14 per cent, accounted in part for the decline in foreign trade.

Gold movements in September were of less magnitude than those of earlier months this year, but resulted in a net gain of monetary metal for the United States. Gold imports of $13,671,000 were recorded in September against exports of $11,135,000, while for the year to date the United States has gained $185,815,000 in gold by the accumulated monthly excesses of imports over exports.

For the same period in 1929 the net accretion of gold by the United States was $245,142,000.

Silver exports for September were $3,903,000 and imports $3,461,000 as compared with exports of $4,374,000 and imports of $4,111,000 the same month last year. The figures attaching to the silver exchange for the month were much smaller than those of any other month recorded in five years.

ORDERLY marketing of the cotton crop at this time is a matter of primary public importance as well as one of economic necessity for the cotton farmer. . . As a banking group serving the entire Southeast it behooves the First National Bank Group to extend the most liberal financial aid to our agricultural interests.

To supply cash for the farmers' immediate needs, and to assist in regulating the marketing of the cotton crop, the banks composing this group will extend loans to farmers up to 80% of the market value of their cotton. Loans will be made through correspondents of the First National Bank of Atlanta and of those banks who are members of the First National Group. Inquiries for detailed information are invited.

This plan has the effect of placing the resources of the Southeast's largest banking group—resources amounting to more than $150,000,000—actively in support of the movement for stabilization of the cotton market.

There's nothing more tell-tale than mere surface-cleaning of rugs. It shows in the very looks of the rug, the dingy colorings, the unkempt nap.

If you want your rugs to have the appearance of cleanliness, you must give them real cleaning—Hoover cleaning.

Hoover cleaning does more than remove the surface dust—more than sweep up the thread and lint. By an exclusive cleaning principle it flutters out the destructive, grease-caked grit deep in the rug. It lifts and smooths the rug nap. It gives a rug the smooth, bright look of newness.

See for yourself! Telephone for a home trial of The Hoover. No obligation. Only $6.25 down; balance monthly. Liberal allowance for old cleaners.

There is a Hoover representative in your neighborhood. He is a permanent member of your community—he is bonded and trustworthy. In the near future he will call on you to give you a free inspection of your present cleaner and to talk with you about the science of rug cleaning. We ask you to extend him the courtesy of talking to him when he arrives.

The wolf of the west, Jake Fleagle, is dead.A modern bad man, the leader of a band of ruthless robbers and killers who shot their way through bank and postoffice holdups, Fleagle died at 9:55 a. m. today, in a hospital here.
The abdominal wound inflicted Tuesday when Fleagle was shot as he was surprised by federal and other authorities as he boarded a train at Branson, Mo., little Ozark mountain town, caused his death.Any doubt that the man was Fleagle was dispelled late today when instructions were received from the Fleagle family at Garden City, Kan., to send the body there, and fingerprints taken by federal officers checked unquestionably.The hunt for Fleagle was started by the two detectives, along with other authorities after his band of outlaws held up and looted the First National bank of Lamar, Col., in May, 1928, of $219,000, shooting to death four men.one the president of the bank and another his son.
Still another feature today was that the various authorities trailed Fleagle to Missouri through letters to women friends. He ordinarily used great care in writing, but mailed letters to many sweethearts without his customary caution.KINGSFORD-SMITH

MUDDLE IN GERMANY*Fascists and Communists Engage in Sharp Clash in Diet Session.BERLIN, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Confusion was added to an already muddled political situation today when the German reichstag and the Prussian diet held stormy sessions and the metal workers' union successfully called 120,000 workers from their jobs.President Paul Loebe was re-elected by the reichstag but severe clashes on the floor preceded and followed the balloting. Hardly had he resumed his chair when the fascists began obstructive tactics which, if continued in the weeks to come, will make parliamentary procedure impossible. President Loebe, who has served nine years in that office, pulled a final vote of 289 against 209 for Dr. Ernst Scholz, German people's party candidate.Other candidates were eliminated under the constitution from receiving ballots in the second vote taken, when the original poll had failed to show a majority for any candidate.Election of Franz Stoecker, national socialist, as first vice president, was the single feature of the reichstag election which the fascists could claim as a gain for their party.The diet session was tumultuous, the fascists and communists engaging in sharp altercations and blocking any real work. Even the proposed vote of non-confidence against the government had to go over until tomorrow when the delegates became hopelessly entangled in a squabble over the government's refusal to lift prohibition of the wearing of communist and fascist uniforms.The strike of the metal workers was linked with the political situation in its economic significance. The walkout grew out of the refusal of the workmen to accept wage cuts ordered by the government as a part of its new economic construction policy. Such obvious opposition was taken in political circles as making the government's situation more precarious. It now is up to the government to find some way out of the new situation or else give up all hope of getting even tacit socialist support for its continuance.Apparently nobody today, for the moment, knew what to do next. The reichstag's council of elders was mak-ing efforts to secure adjournment of the house for several days, right after the government's declaration is read tomorrow afternoon, by Chancellor Bruening. It is hoped by the time the reichstag reconvenes that the metal strike might be adjusted at least temporarily.There were no disorders in Berlin today other than the disturbances within the two houses of government.
Heavy police guards were maintained at strategic points and tonight patrols were established so that the authorities might not again be taken by surprise as they were in the fascist anti-Jewish riots and communist activities on Monday.PACKER-TO-CONSUMER

Georgia Lions Aid Move To Break "Buyers' Strike"

Doctrine of "More Buying, More Work—Buy Now," To Be Preached Throughout Nation.

Reports from every section of Georgia indicate that next week, set aside throughout the United States by Lions International as "Business Confidence Week," will be observed widely by Georgia Lions and the public alike in a movement to break what has been termed the "buyers' strike," according to Channing Cope, district governor of Lions clubs.

Four-minute speakers will appear on radio broadcast programs and in moving picture theaters urging the slogan "More Buying—More Work—Buy Now."

Wednesday, Mr. Cope disclosed, a "talkie" in which four of Atlanta's leading business men will make optimistic business talks, was made, and although the identity of the quartet was not disclosed, Mr. Cope said the reel will be exhibited during next week at the Fox, Paramount, Capitol and Georgia theaters.

It is the plan of Lions in Georgia, he added, to press the doctrine of opportunity for purchasing throughout the state, and the 80,000 Lions have pledged themselves to expend at least $100 per capita during the week, which will have the effect of dispelling the antipathy of the purchaser and of placing a large amount of money in circulation.

Governors of nearly every state in the union have endorsed and commended the movement of the Lions organization. It was said, and in several western and mid-western states chief executives have issued proclamations setting aside October 19 to 25 as "Business Confidence Week."

Sentenced to Atlanta.

GREENVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 15.—(AP)—Morris J. Winkler and Charles H. Slater, of Detroit, were given 22 months each in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta today by United States District Judge George Taylor when they submitted to charges of transferring narcotics from Detroit to Knoxville.

FLORIDA GIRL'S DEATH

BAFFLES AUTHORITIES

FORT MYERS, Fla., Oct. 15.—(AP)—Witnesses were being sought today in Fort Myers and Key West for a coroner's jury investigating the death of Miss Doris Virginia Long, English teacher in a Key West school. She died in a local sanitarium Monday night under circumstances which Coroner J. B. Conyers has termed "suspicious."

The jury adjourned last night, subject to call, after a four-hour session, from which newspapermen were barred. Testimony was presented by two doctors who attended the young woman at the sanitarium and by two other physicians who performed an autopsy at an undertaking establishment here. Officials declined to discuss the testimony offered.

WINNIPEG SHIVERING

IN OCTOBER BLIZZARD

WINNIPEG, Manitoba, Oct. 15.—(AP)—The prairie country shivered today in the clutch of the worst October blizzard in years. A blustering snow storm rolled down from the north into Saskatchewan and Alberta, piling white drifts high. Threshing was delayed in many areas and traffic in some cities was tied up by the snowfall. Seven inches of snow fell in central and northeastern Alberta.

RELIGIOUS GROUP

BACKS DRY LAWS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(AP)—A tentative report of a religious prohibition "must stand under fire for another five years" and financial aid was needed more now than ever before was taken up for decision by the brotherhood's board of temperance and social welfare of the international convention of Disciples of Christ.

The report must be acted on by the board before coming before the convention proper.

It asserted an intensified wet campaign had been launched "to make more difficult the enactment of recommendations of the Wickersham commission" and to increase the net strength in congress.

SOUTH CAROLINIAN

MURDERED IN BED

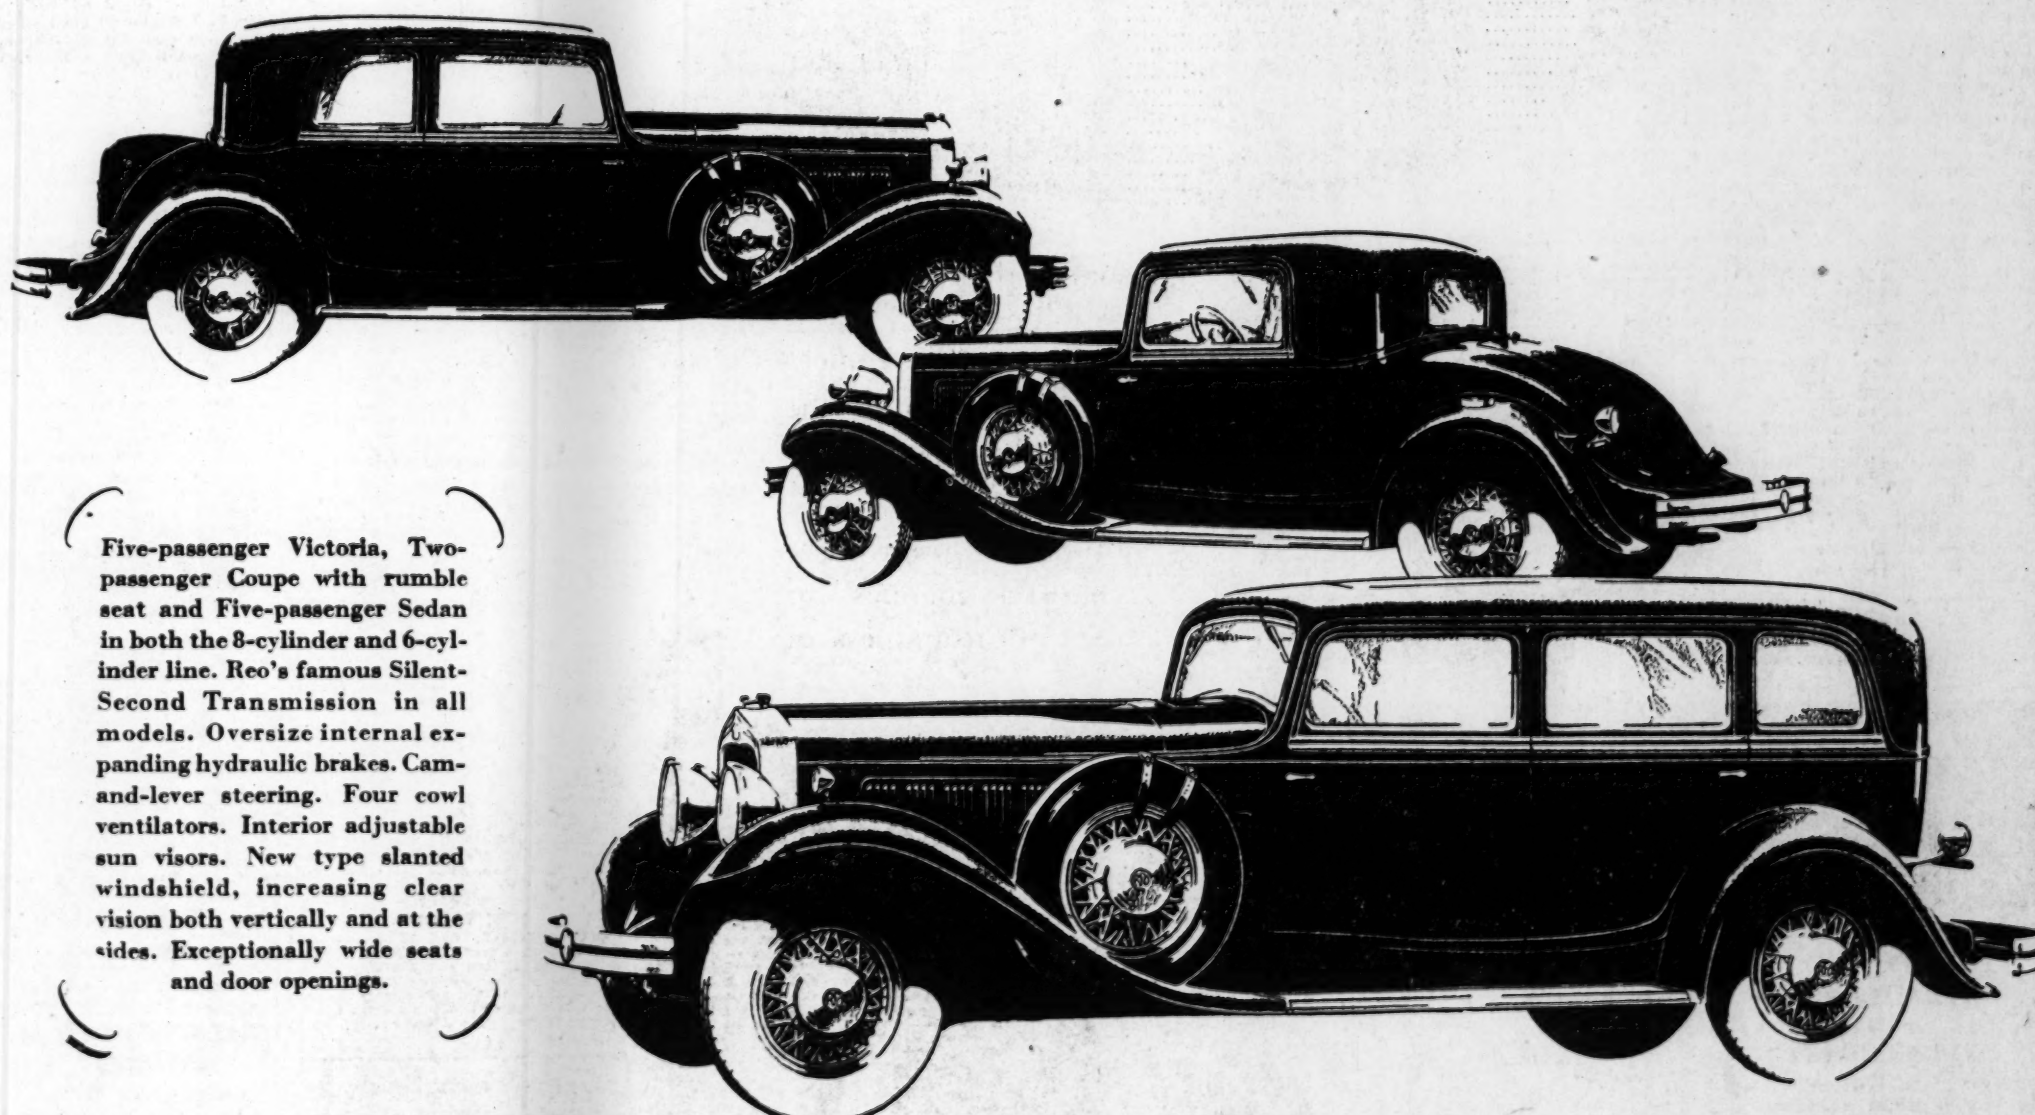

SPARTANBURG, S. C., Oct. 15.—(AP)—Gilbert Fleming, 50, farmer, was hacked to death with an ax by an unidentified assailant early today as he slept in his Spartanburg county home. His assailant fled when Fleming's wife awakened and screamed. Mrs. Fleming could not identify him.

BRITISH ROUNDUP

INDIAN AGITATORS

BOMBAY, India, Oct. 15.—(AP)—The greatest roundup of nationalists seen in India for a long time occurred early today, with government troops and police arresting 190 persons in a series of raids.

Nearly every nationalist leader in the city was taken in custody, and most of those picked up in a few hours had been sentenced to several months' imprisonment on a charge of belonging to unlawful associations.

Other warrants were issued and notice today were searching for additional leaders.

Bombay nationalists promptly replied to this onslaught by filling the gaps caused by the arrest. Usman Sobhani was nominated president of the war council to replace President Nagindas, arrested this morning. Meanwhile, soldiers and police were stationed at four strategic centers in the city.

CHINESE BANDITS

HOLD AMERICAN

PEIPING, China, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Frank P. Lockhart, American consul general, advised the legation today that Bert N. Nelson, American missionary of the Lutheran United Mission home, Minneapolis, is being held by brigands.

His abductors belong to the so-called first red army. They captured him after the fall of Kwangshan, southeast Honan, to their forces on October 5. A large ransom has been demanded.

NOVA SCOTIAN FORESTS

SWEEP BY BLAZES

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 15.—(AP)—Acre on acre of standing timber was falling today before the rapid advance of forest fires blazing on a score of widely separated fronts in Nova Scotia.

In Queen's and Lunenburg counties, where more than 30 houses and scores of timbered acres were destroyed last spring, came reports of a situation rapidly growing serious. A dry growth and a shortage of water added to the difficulties of hundreds of fire fighters.

In the Lake Rossignol district of Queen's county, the largest fire blazed on a five-mile front, almost surrounding the village of Middlefield.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Rain in many sections of the east coming after a prolonged dry spell today set at rest fears of a water famine and destructive forest fires.

Before the descent of the rains, however, forests in the Adirondack and Catskill mountains of New York were ordered closed by Governor Roosevelt, effective today, the opening of the deer hunting season.

RENEWED 'GUN-TOTING'

WORRIES GREAT BRITAIN

LONDON, Oct. 15.—(AP)—"Pistol toting," once effectively banished from England, is being revived and is almost certain to draw the fire of parliament when that body meets October 26.

Increases in the number of weapons found on persons arrested for misdemeanors has furnished the fuel for considerable comment in the British press during recent months.

In addition to the general revolver or pistol type of weapon, a few instances of sawed off shotguns have come to the attention of the British authorities, causing no little concern.

Under English law at present, no license is required of dealers who deal exclusively in smooth-bore shotguns, used extensively in hunting, but many police officials hold these stores to be the source of any number of illegitimate weapons.

PROMINENT ALABAMA

DENTIST FOUND SLAIN

SHEFFIELD, Ala., Oct. 15.—(AP)—Dr. T. M. Wilson, 42, prominent dentist, was found dead in the reservoir of the United States nitrate plant near here with a gunshot wound in the mouth and the head shattered.

The body was lying in about three feet of water, and authorities investigating declare mysterious circumstances surround the death. A coroner's jury which heard testimony in the case recessed until certain circumstances can be investigated.

SHIP 600 MILES AT SEA

IMPERILLED BY LEAK

LONDON, Oct. 15.—(AP)—The British steamer Cape Verde, 600 miles off Valentia, bound for Portland, Maine, today battled with a leak which threatened to sink the 5,000-ton craft.

With seven feet of water in one lower hold, the ship's crew were manning the pumps and, according to advices received here, were winning the fight against the rising water.

Physician Wills Body

To Further Knowledge

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 15.—(AP)—The last act of Dr. Lloyd Emerson Matter, Pasadena physician, who died yesterday from a mysterious malady, was to will his body to science so that the nature of his illness may be further investigated.

A group of his colleagues sought to learn the cause of his death by studying the findings of Dr. A. F. Wagner, county autopsy surgeon, who performed a post-mortem examination in accordance with Dr. Matter's will.

Dr. Matter, 58 years old, had suffered from a painful condition for ten months. He was a native of Freeport, Ill., a graduate of Rush Medical College, at Chicago, and had practiced in Pasadena since 1913.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—(P)—Anxiety over reports of blizzards jamming up the railroads and the possibility of low prices here for wheat and oats much to the dismay of the farmers here at the close of the time today. A big falling off in the price of wheat was noted here today, and was also a notable feature. Wheat, however, failed to hold gains well the face of profit taking sales which developed quickly on bulges in quotations.

The close for wheat was irregular, with prices ranging from 1-2c a bushel decline to 2-1/2c. The close for oats was 1-1/2c a bushel, day's finish. Corn closed 7-8 1/2c to 7-8c, down, oats unchanged to 5-8c higher and provisions unchanged to a rise of 1-2c.

Estimates persisted that fully 100,000,000 bushels of unthreshed Canadian wheat in the prairie provinces had been caught without harvesting from the onset of winter at least 40,000,000. Other estimates put the total at 40,000,000.

feet was to lift prices here decidedly at some stages, and to do so in a more lasting manner at Winnipeg. A sudden jump in wheat prices at Liverpool also was ascribed to the news from Canada, although some messages received in Chicago said the Liverpool advance was due to buying orders from this side of the Atlantic.

On the other hand, general rains in northern Argentina, together with southern hemisphere wheat in Europe, counted at times as more or less of a counter balance to unfavorable advices from Canada. The American market for northern American wheat was slow, and the world's available supply of wheat showed 3,124,000 bushels increase for the week ending May 10. The week ending May 10 at Minneapolis and Duluth totaled but 289 cars, against 483 cars a week ago and 635 cars at this time last year. Higher prices were ruling there at higher premiums, receipts being small and a good sized decrease of stocks indicated for the week ending May 10. The week ending May 10 there at Minneapolis and Duluth was a quiet upturn when the wheat market developed strength. Oats averaged higher, influenced by word of damaged crops, crushed oats and barley in Canada. Provisions reflected upturn in hog values and responded also to official

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(P)—South American bonds made a substantial rally today. Showing a definite reversal of the trend of the past few weeks, a wide list of issues registered advances and imparted a better tone to the entire foreign group.

Domestic bonds moved higher, although modest gains were the rule. Some of the larger advances were in stock privilege issues that move in sympathy with the share market, and bonds that have been depressed by unsettling developments.

The disappearance of liquidation in foreign bonds and the strong upturn of stocks were the principal influences in the marked improvement displayed by the market. The average advance of 1-10th of a point, the first upward revision in two weeks.

A large offering expected tomorrow is a $200,000,000 note of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston which plans to retire an equal amount of 4-1/2 per cent bonds due November 1. The new notes being offered at interest rates which will provide a distinct saving to the company.

The rise in some South American issues in an active market, Bolivia's 1929 bonds gained 10 points, Chile's 1929 bonds gained 2-1/2 points, Minas Geraes 6-1/2s were about the same, Brazil's 1929 bonds gained 2-1/2 points, and the 6-1/2s of 1927 moved 2-1/2 points higher. Sao Paulo State bonds were 4 points higher.

The demand for Chilean government bonds and mortgage bank issues were particularly strong. Argentina, Colombia, Peruvian and Uruguayan issues all showed improvement. The rest of the list were firmer.

Polish 7-1/2s were weak, dropping 7 points to 70, a new low, and the 8s yielded 12 points on a few sales.

A sharp upturn in American and Foreign Power 5s and International Telephone & Telegraph bonds in South America was attributed to the strong recovery of Latin American issues.

The domestic utility group was generally active and up 1-1/2. A better inquiry for many grade railroad issues resulted in high grade advances. Conviction of the strong trend of stocks.

United States governments were steady. Most of the group were in the Liberty 3-1/2s, which were a shade lower.

Wheat Estimate.

PARIS, Oct. 15.—(P)—The ministry of agriculture today said that the 1930 wheat crop in France at 210,000,000 bushels as against 315,000,000 bushels for last year.

Miss Edith Craske Will Speak at North Ave. Church

Miss Edith M. Craske, author of "Sister India," will speak in the ladies' parlors of North Avenue church, second floor of the new Church Activities building, corner of North Avenue and Courtland street, Friday, October 17, at 3 o'clock. Women of other churches are invited to attend.

Dr. G. Campbell Morgan says of her: "Edith Craske is my personal friend and for a number of years was my valued and trusted fellow worker. When she joined me at Westminster I gave into her hands a piece of work among the young in the interest of missions, with a perfectly free hand to do it in her own way. This she did in founding the missionary school, and until the day of perfect light she will never know how far her work has gone in inspiration and influence. And yet again I served for some years with her on the board of a missionary society, she acting in a secretarial capacity. There I saw her keenness and ability manifested in a new way. It was a real joy to me when she became allied with the work of Luthians and the opportunity came to her to visit the field and see at first hand this work of God, in the hands of Dr. Edith M. Craske."

This is the work Miss Craske comes to tell about—a very wonderful work which has sent forth streams of mercy that have blessed thousands and tens of thousands of the daughters of that mystic land. There will be an opportunity to meet and talk with Miss Craske at the close of the meeting.

Officer d'Academie To Be Conferred Upon Mrs. Slaton.

Charles Loridan, French consul in Atlanta, will confer upon Mrs. Marshall Slaton the official title of "officer d'academie" at the first meeting this season of the Alliance Francaise, to be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the former governor, John M. The decoration consists of silver palms of oak, laurel suspended by a violet ribbon, the ribbon alone to be worn on the dress according to French custom.

Mrs. Slaton has been vice president of the French Alliance of Atlanta for many years and for her faithful devotion to her duties in the Atlanta branch of this international organization she was developed into one of the largest and most active in America.

The program for tomorrow evening includes a causerie by Mr. Loridan on "The Influence of the French School on Literature, Art and Politics." The musical program will consist of solos given by Miss Sylvia Goldberg and Mrs. Ruth Rankin Rutherford. Mrs. Sanford Cites Tallulah School As Strongest Point in Federation

By Bessie S. Stafford.

Mrs. S. V. Sanford, of Athens, president of Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, cited in her report made yesterday to the executive board at the Atlanta Women's Club, that Tallulah Falls Industrial school, owned and maintained by Georgia clubwomen, is the strongest talking point of the organization. She claims that the school is the most distinctive feature of the federation, and that Mrs. John F. Sippel, president of General Federation, declared before the Denver convention last June, that Georgia clubwomen are promoters of one of the most important educational institutions in the organization. Mrs. Sanford stressed the importance of preserving the steadfastness of purpose, and to carry to completion every project supported by the state federation. In addition, she urged the keeping in mind that world conditions challenge clubwomen to keep awake to new creative forces and hold the organization in the most distinctive feature of the federation, and that Mrs. John F. Sippel, president of General Federation, declared before the Denver convention last June, that Georgia clubwomen are promoters of one of the most important educational institutions in the organization. New Movement.

Inaugurating a new movement in the board program district presidents reported outstanding projects as the first order of business with Mrs. S. M. Every club in the third district is small and is some 100 miles apart, and although the president, Mrs. Thurman Whitley, of Reynolds, has not been able to visit these clubs, she has communicated through correspondence with them. Fitzgerald, Cuthbert, Montezuma and Reynolds are outstanding clubs, and revenue from a miniature golf course on the grounds of Reynolds Club is supporting its projects. Mrs. Roy Cole, of Newnan, fourth district president, pronounced LaGrange Club as the most progressive in many phases of federated club work, and was awarded the gavel for most outstanding work in the district. The promotion of George Washington bi-centennial program and memorial tree planting will celebrate George Washington's birthday. She requested contribution of activities to "The Constitution" club page. The Federation's official organ for more than 30 years, in appreciation for the value of this gift for clubwomen throughout the fourth is 100 per cent for Tallulah and third in amount contributed by districts to maintenance. The Vex Memorial endowment to be started this year, as will the completion of payment of Ella F. White endowment fund. The aim of the fifth district is to complete the Jane Scott Woodruff memorial economics scholarship, go stated Mrs. L. O. Freeman, of College Park. In place of issuing a year book, the Georgia Federation year book was off the press and telephoned the publisher to print 400 copies of the fifth district publicity and was exhibited a from the many foot-ills that you have "enjoyed" since girlhood. Practically all foot discomforts—whether bunions, corns, ingrowing toe-nails, grown-under toes, overlapping toes, or what-not—have been caused from ill-fitted shoes. Very likely this ill-fitting started in the old days when a shoe was considered a shoe just like an egg is an egg.

Shoes must be fitted conscientiously and a retailer must have a wide spread of sizes and widths in order to fit shoes conscientiously. In the old days he did not have them and some don't have them now

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means for ending a stubborn, lingering cough. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs little, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that follow severe cold epidemics.

From any drugist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe and heal the inflamed throat membrane with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of distressing coughs, chest colds, and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded. (adv.)

Atlanta Music Club Holds First Study Course Program

The Atlanta Music Club, Mrs. Walter H. Bedard, president, held its second meeting of the season and first study course program yesterday afternoon at 11 o'clock in Wesley Memorial auditorium. Mrs. Grace Lee Townsend is chairman for the study course programs. Mrs. Delos L. Hill was chairman for the morning, conducting a resume of the study course adopted by the National Federation of Music Clubs.

Mrs. Townsend gave a handcraft poster review of the first two books, "Fundamentals of Music," by Karl W. Gehrkens, and "From Song to Symphony," by Daniel Gregory Mason. Especially interesting and unique was the picture illustration of the fugue by four airplanes making a design in the air. Mrs. Hill gave an educational synopsis of "Musical Instruments," by Dr. Edgar Stillman Kelly, and referred briefly to the remaining two books in the course.

Mrs. Lillian Rogers Gilbreath, pianist, played a Chopin group, the Etude, Op. 10, No. 3, E major, and the Scherzo, Op. 30, C sharp minor. Miss Lydia Wheeler, soprano, sang a beautifully balanced group of songs representative of five nations. Rachmaninoff's "Through the Silent Night" and the "Wigwag" of Brahms, especially portrayed exquisite art. Miss Glennis Hancock played accompaniments.

The concluding number of the program was an organ solo, "Allegro," from Widor's Sixth Symphony, by Miss Emilie Parmalee, in which she combined the musicianly taste of a fine organist into a symphonic performance that was like a great orchestra.

The first concert of the Civic Music Association, sponsored by the Atlanta Music Club, will be given by Marion Claire, soprano, of Chicago, accompanied by Henry Weber, concert pianist, Tuesday evening, November 4, in Wesley Memorial auditorium.

Mrs. Wilmer Moore will be at Phillips & Crew's on Monday, November 3, from 10 to 4 o'clock and Tuesday, November 4, from 10 to 12 o'clock to exchange receipts for membership cards. Members desiring to make the exchange through the mail must send a stamped, self-addressed envelope, together with a statement assuming the entire responsibility for the tickets, thus releasing the Atlanta Music Club and the Civic Music Association from the responsibility in case of loss of the tickets in delivery.

FARM RELIEF HIT BY SEN. GEORGE

Georgian Tells Sixth District Convention Hoover Program Is Failure.

MACON, Ga., Oct. 15.—(P)—United States Senator Walter F. George, a guest of the sixth district convention here Wednesday, in an address before the delegates declared that the Hoover farm relief program has been a failure.

"It has resulted in practically no benefit to the general farmer throughout the United States," declared Senator George.

"I feel strongly that the ultimate result of the legislation in the Hoover administration toward farm relief is failure, for it is based on wrong principles. There is some good in it, of course, as it would be hard to frame a bill calling for the expenditure of great sums of money without being of benefit to some."

"When Hoover came into office, he came with the pledge to relieve agriculture. He said it could be relieved by passage of the farm bill and, second, by legislative revision of tariff in favor of the farmer."

Telling of the work of tariff revision, he alleged that a secretary of the Association of Connecticut Manufacturers was allowed to sit in a secret meeting of the republican finance committee investigating the tariff revision until the matter was discovered by the democrats and the manufacture was excluded.

Lamenting the failure of an effort to adjust tariff measures to be of greater benefit to the farmer, he said that "there was never at any time a proposal to drastically wipe away tariff or to do anything but begin a downward move against the great tariff wall we have erected about the United States."

The convention formally reaffirmed the nomination of Representative Sam Rutherford in the primary of September 10.

R. L. Dickey was re-elected chairman and Joe Ben Jackson was re-elected secretary.

Quimby Melton, Griffin, Ga., editor, declared in nominating Mr. Rutherford that the congressman had proven himself to be "a friend of the ex-service man."

Mr. Rutherford told of his activity on behalf of the ex-service men and work in the house of representatives toward making easier the establishment of service disability records.

He scored heavily Hoover "prosperity measures" and said that the administration has witnessed a deflation all over the country.

He declared that the federal farm bill has "so far not given even a medium of relief," and said that in declaring "survival of the fittest" the alternative to crop reduction, Legge, chairman of the federal farm board, has admitted failure of the bill.

A resolution was adopted authorizing Mr. Rutherford to appoint his executive committee when he has had an opportunity to prepare for the appointments.

ADAMS IS DENIED HABEAS CORPUS WRIT

Constitutionality of State Election Law Upheld in Ruling.

SPARTA, Ga., Oct. 15.—Judge James B. Park, of the superior court, in a hearing here late Tuesday night, denied an application for a writ of habeas corpus for Burley Adams, convicted murderer, and upheld the constitutionality of the state election law. Adams' attorneys had attacked the validity of the election law in making application for a writ of habeas corpus.

Adams was convicted of the slaying of Walter R. Tolbert, a federal prohibition agent, near Augusta, Ga., in February, 1928. Tolbert was shot to death from ambush as he rode in an automobile with a party of officers returning from a raid on a whisky still.

The convicted slayer was under sentence of death on October 11 when Judge Park, on the night of October 10, stayed the execution on application for a writ of habeas corpus.

The petition for the writ attacked the legality of election law as a means of execution in this state. Three grounds of alleged unconstitutionality were set up in the petition.

A dispatch from Augusta, received shortly after news was received here that the writ had been denied, said that Solicitor-General George Hains, of the Augusta circuit, would seek an early resentencing of Adams. The prisoner has twice been convicted and three times sentenced to die.

Solicitor-General Hains said he would ask Judge A. L. Franklin, of the Augusta circuit, to resentence Adams at Appling, county seat of Columbia county, at the earliest possible date. Judge Franklin is now holding court in Georgia.

The attack on the constitutionality of the election law was based on the contention that it was in violation of a provision of the state constitution that all sentences for similar offenses be uniform over the state. Attorneys for Adams said a provision of the law which allowed hanging for persons indicted and convicted for capital offenses before the passage of the act, and required electrocution for those indicted and convicted after passage of the act.

Another allegation contended that the only constitutional officer in Georgia to perform an execution is the sheriff of the county where the crime was committed. The election law made the governor, an appointed officer, the executioner.

The third ground was on a legal technicality alleging that the constitution provided that the United States constitution guaranteeing due process of law to all citizens accused of crime, and that the state constitution provided that all sentences for similar offenses be uniform over the state.

Assisting Solicitor-General Hains in opposing the writ, T. C. Greer, assistant attorney-general of Georgia, Wallace E. and Ben E. Pierce, of Augusta, brothers, represented the defendant.

ATTORNEYS WILL APPEAL CASE TO SUPREME COURT

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 15.—(P)—Attorneys for Burley Adams, said Wednesday they would appeal Judge Park's decision to the state supreme court, and at the same time seek a writ of habeas corpus.

They indicated the United States supreme court also might be asked to pass on the case.

Schoolgirl Complexion Of Youthful Mother Fools Truant Cop

MACON, Ga., Oct. 15.—(P)—A zealous truant officer, saw a young lady, less than five feet tall and wearing a last year's knee lengthingham dress industrially sweeping what he thought was her mama's lawn. Around her head, a bright ribbon held back saucy black curls.

The officer thought such a miss of tender years should be in school finding out about reading, writing and arithmetic.

"Young lady," he bellowed in his heartiest truant officer tones, "why aren't you in school?"

"If I did go to school they would probably throw me out," the young lady replied a little too pertly to please the officer.

"And why?" he demanded sternly. "Because," she said, "I have a little girl in school now, and Mrs. T. Springer continued sweeping her lawn amid profuse apologies from the officer.

Support Your Own County Within Its Boundaries, Moultrie's Message To Rotarians at Notable Inter-City Meeting Wednesday in Macon

BY GLENN RAMSEY.

MACON, Ga., Oct. 15.—(P)—Rotarians from eight clubs gathered in an inter-city meeting here today and heard how Colquitt county accomplished "an every day cash market in Moultrie for every county farm product."

actual scenes of farmers at various tasks and containing information on the cost of each product.

"This picture was shown in every theater and schoolhouse in the county. Nobody escaped seeing it. It cost $5,000 but we have often thought it has been worth a $1,000,000 in results."

"After the making of that picture the county continued to progress until the annual farm production has reached $8,000,000 in the Moultrie trade area but within the boundaries of the county."

"Colquitt county produces a dozen major crops annually. We have adopted this method to give the farmer something to do all the year around and to have no idle hours on the farms."

"We have consolidated all the rural schools of the county. One of these schools has 25 acres of farm land surrounding it, and is equipped with livestock. Here the boys who are taking scientific farm studies also learn their practical application."

"Should produce $50,000,000. There are vocational agricultural teachers in these schools and the plan has also been advanced into the high school at Moultrie, where agriculture is continued under a competent teacher than country youths may take advantage of this continuance of their rural school work. There are 225 of these vocational students in the high school at Moultrie this year."

"We have accomplished something, we feel, but we have not yet reached the pinnacle. It is true we have no vacant houses and no idle farms, but we feel that instead of having an annual value of farm products of $8,000,000 as at present, Colquitt county should produce $50,000,000."

County Agent Stafford supplementing the remarks of Mr. McDowell said that while there was "no boom" in Colquitt county, the situation there was "above the average."

"Recently we, the Chamber of Commerce and myself, have received telegrams from almost every section of the country from professional men and merchants asking if Moultrie was a good place to locate," Mr. Stafford said.

"I want to be quoted as saying that there is no room in the county for anyone other than able-bodied men and women who wish to work by tilling the soil and through diversified farming. We will finance them and help them in every way possible."

Oxnard Sends Congratulations. The meeting today was presided over by W. T. Anderson, editor of the Macon Telegraph and president of the Macon Rotary Club. Mr. Anderson is one of those sponsoring the movement to bring the attention of all Georgia to the accomplishments of Colquitt county.

During the meeting the following telegram was received by Tom Law, district governor of Rotary:

"Extremely interested in reading accounts of your sponsoring movement for larger consumption of Georgia products by Georgians. Consider this message signed by Thomas Oxnard, vice president of the Savannah Sugar Refining Corporation."

ATLANTA ROTARIANS PRAISE WORKINGS OF MOULTRIE PLAN. Members of the Atlanta Rotary Club who attended the intercity meeting with other Georgia clubs as guests of the Macon Rotary Club, were highly enthusiastic over the balanced agriculture program known as the "Moultrie plan," which was described to them by various speakers at the Macon meeting Wednesday.

"The Macon meeting," Tom C. Law, district governor of Rotary, declared upon his return, "was one of the most successful I have ever attended. Atlanta Rotarians and those of other cities attending the Macon session were delighted with the hospitality of our Macon brothers, and I believe the meeting to be held next Wednesday in Moultrie will draw more members to it than any similar meeting in a long time."

Concerning the so-called "Moultrie plan," Mr. Law said that it cannot be too highly commended by Georgians. "After having heard it described by county leaders and listened to the explanations of leading Moultrie citizens," he said, "I am convinced that it is the only practicable plan for the rest of the state."

In addition to Mr. Law, the following members of the local club were at the Macon meeting:

Rivers D. Grove, produce merchant; William C. Wardlaw, financier; Earl H. Cone, proprietary medicine executive; J. F. Allen, merchant; Hal F. Hentz, architect; John J. Woodside, Jr., storage executive; Tom T. Flagg, builder; George Ripley, advertising official; W. F. Caldwell, of the Associated Press; Roland B. Hall, engineer; C. Howard Candler, president of the local club, and Elfred S. Papy, provision executive.

GEORGIANS MUST EAT STATE-GROWN FOOD

MACON, Ga., Oct. 15.—(P)—Circle club of Georgia today were challenged to lead the housewives of the state to filling their pantries with Georgia products.

This plan," said Mr. Anderson, "in my opinion, will do more to place Georgia products in the pantries of every household in Georgia than anything else I can think of."

Let every civic club of the state place at least $25 in a fund. This fund will be decided upon the largest number of Georgia products used at their luncheon and a money given to that club for charitable or other purposes.

Smithies and Bluebirds Battle at Spiller Field This Afternoon

Bulldogs and Jackets Are Sent Through Long Scrimmages

SMITHIES FACE BLUEBIRD TEAM THIS AFTERNOON

Commercial Eleven Journeys to Douglasville for Hard Game.

By Roy White.

Three Atlanta prep football teams will go into action this afternoon, while the others will prepare for Friday and Saturday games.

Tech High and University School will meet at 2:45 o'clock at Spiller's and Commercial High will play Douglasville High at Douglasville this afternoon at the same time.

The Tech High-University game was moved up from Saturday morning in order that more spectators will have an opportunity to see the game, and Commercial was invited to play today rather than Friday, because of the opening of the Bankhead highway Friday.

The Smithies will rule a heavy favorite over the Bluebirds this afternoon. They opened with a scoreless tie against G. M. A., followed with a 18 to 0 victory over Ensey and suffered a 7 to 0 defeat last Friday from Madison Azules.

WEAK LATE START.

University, on the other hand, has failed to score a point in two games and got away to a late start this season. The Bluebirds were beaten, 13 to 0, by K. E. Lee High in South Georgia and suffered a 52 to 0 defeat last Friday in Macon by Lanier High.

The Bluebirds, under the leadership of their new coach, Hamble Hecke, former Tech star, will probably line up with Purron, Miller, Buckalew, Knowlton, Hall, Collins and Jacobson in the line and Jackson, Arrabal, Clay and Barron in the backfield.

Coach Tolbert will likely start with Hadley, Hinson, Welch, Bender, Morris, Howard and Gibson in the line and Boyd, Sanders, Hurst and Street in the backfield.

LONG DRILL.

Boys' High is scheduled for a long signal drill this afternoon in the final preparation for a Friday afternoon game at Spiller's against Lanier High from Macon.

The Poets are reported to have another of their pennant-winning eleven and only last week defeated University School, 52 to 0, on the Central City gridiron.

Coach Doyle's team suffered a 7 to 0 defeat in Savannah and is anxious to get back in the G. I. A. A. running with a victory Friday.

NIGHT GAME.

Decatur High will be initiated into the night football club at 7:45 o'clock Friday on the Decatur gridiron with Athens High as opponents. It will be the first night football game for Decatur and the third in the Atlanta prep league to be participated.

G. M. A. played in a night game last fall on Grant field and Boys' High helped McClellan Chautauque two weeks ago.

Coach Padgett and his G. M. A. ends are speeding toward Atlanta to meet the Navy Pilots Saturday afternoon as an added attraction to the Navy-Duke game. G. M. A. left the city at noon Wednesday with 24 players, two coaches and a student manager.

Lopez Among First To Sign Contract

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Clarence Mitchell, center, and Ray Phelps, right halfback, are among the first to sign contracts for the New York Giants. Mitchell is one of the first major league players to sign a 1931 contract, Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis revealed in his official bulletin today.

It will be the eighteenth season in the majors for Mitchell and his twenty-second straight year in baseball. He will be 40 years old next February.

Walter Rottger, Giant outfielder, also signed up on a new contract. Other contracts filed in the commissioner's office were those of Alphonse Lopez, Brooklyn catcher, and Ray Phelps, Brooklyn pitcher.

Fog Halts Second Of Schooner Races

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Oct. 15.—The second race between the Gloucester fishing schooner Gertrude L. Thealand and the Nova Scotia fisherman Blunson was called off today after the two boats had nearly completed the first half of the course. Thick weather, which made it difficult for them to find the markers, caused the postponement.

Hoover May See Blue-Crimson Tilt

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—President Hoover, considering attending the Yale-Harvard football game at New Haven November 22 in addition to the Princeton-Navy game at Princeton October 25, to which he has tentatively accepted an invitation. It was announced today at the White House that arrangements had been practically completed for the chief executive's attendance at the Navy-Princeton game, and unless something develops to prevent it, Mr. Hoover will leave early on the morning of the game, and return immediately afterward.

By Ed Samforth

It will be a day of driving snow in Porto Rico when the Yellow Jackets lose another game 31 to 0.

Either that or every one of the Yellow Jackets who participated in workouts this week at Rose Bowl stadium will be unconscious when that score is piled up.

The Tech coaches, sensing an amazing lack of condition in the big linemen and a tardy foot in the few backs who survive, have driven them harder than any Tech team in recent years has been driven before the third game of a season.

It took such a rout as that dealt out by Carnegie Tech last week to bare the hidden flaws in the machine. It was found that the flaws far outnumbered the parts that functioned. Hence the hard work.

Until nearly dark yesterday two Tech varsity eleven were sent through drills that looked like the afternoon chores of an Alabama team before certain big games in the past. Rose Bowl field also sounded like the Auburn field did in September when Messrs. Wynne, Kiley and Cannon were shouting the bad news to their awkward men.

Other football teams this week have been eased up a bit and have been at work adding plays to their repertoire. Not so at Georgia Tech.

Auburn is coming up Saturday, bigger and better than at any time for the past six years. And Georgia Tech is not exactly ready.

As said, these Yellow Jackets will think twice before they show such poor taste as to lose an early game by a large score. It calls for too much work the following week. They just don't have time to rest up.

THE BASEBALL FAN COMPLAINS.

Soaked in gloom, the baseball fan sat in a chair in the lee of this desk yesterday and moaned over the flood of football news that had washed his box scores, his trades, his "dope" stories from the papers.

In vain I pointed out that Joe McCarthy's signing with the Yankees and Knoxville's admission to the Southern league held the most important positions in the news of yesterday morning. From this he derived no comfort.

"The Carnegie Foundation was right when it said football was over-emphasized," he protested. And so far into the afternoon.

THE OLD FAN IS WRONG.

The baseball fan was complaining about the space being given football and calling THAT over-emphasis. He is as wet as Cuba.

After turning over columns and pages of expensive white paper free of charge to the use of a completely commercialized institution conducting a sport for private personal gain, newspapers can be pardoned for booting baseball into a part of one column for three months of the year and devoting the rest of its space to football.

The most ordinary game of college football stirs the imagination more powerfully than the greatest baseball game ever played between two modern overpaid professional baseball teams. That, perhaps, is a personal opinion, but it stands as read.

OUTCOME IS OVERPLAYED.

But there is a distressing element of overemphasis in football. It is not in the space devoted to the games and the preparations through the week for those games.

It lies in over-emphasizing the victories and defeats of teams of immature young men who are just learning a game that actually requires years to master.

The most experienced college football player—that is, one who is playing his third year—still has only a hazy idea of the game. Any football coach will tell you that he learned more about football his first year coaching than he did in all his undergraduate days put together.

But we insist on hailing our victories with immoderate yelps and our defeats with unmanly wails. The halfback who eludes a tackler by an inch that may have been the skidding of that tackler's cleats in a soft spot on the gridiron becomes a pigskin genius. The fullback who fails on the goal line through a combination of circumstances beyond his control is just a dud.

On the winning teams we place an unfair burden of praise and on the losing team an equally unfair load of responsibility.

MORE DEBATE.

The baseball fan rasped in rebuttal: "Well, why don't you do something about it?" Echo answers:

"Who? Me? Oh, no, brother!—we enjoy lifting the old war whoop of victory and singing the blues in defeat. We enjoy explaining just how it was done after it was done and how it all happened after the bad news has been received.

"Those boys who go out for football will learn someday that they are letting themselves in for a lot of grief if they lose and a lot of glory if they win.

"After all, the pressure put on them by this over-emphasis may build character. The weak either give up or blow up under censure or praise; the strong fight back in defeat and keep their heads clear in victory.

"The over-emphasis racket may be the most wholesome part of the game."

NOTE OF PROGRESS.

Clegg, the Senegambian attache of the Georgia football establishment, who has been there since before the war, was expediting on football coming home from Yale. Clegg offered this:

"Football teams is just bettah now dan dey use tuh be. Jus' like rabbits is fastah. Use tuh could go out any mawnin with a stick and run down a rabbit and knock him ovah. Now go out and try to ketch one of dese 1930 model rabbits—why you can't even git close tuh him."

BULLDOGS SHOW POORLY IN DRILL AGAINST 'U. N. C.'

First String Pushed About Rudely by Red Devils.

By Al Smith.

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 15.—The Georgia Bulldogs—the first-string team—got into their first scrimmage of the week this afternoon and the odds on the Bulldogs to take the North Carolina game here Saturday dropped to about even.

The varsity eleven that played against Yale Saturday last went in almost to a man to try the offense. The onslaughts of the Red Devils, using North Carolina plays, and the coaches received a jolt when the Reds began taking the ball down the field with the varsity seemingly unable to stop them until 5 or 10 yards had been churned out.

Varsity POWERLESS.

The varsity couldn't halt the drives of the combined freshman-reserve team, and the Reds sped to four touchdowns against the team Harry Mehre is depending upon to start against North Carolina Saturday.

The varsity appeared to be in good condition until the scrimmage began, but after the Reds had reeled off 20 yards on the first two offensive plays, spectators began to sit and take notice.

The spectacle was astonishing—the line rated as one of the best in the country unable to hold in check eleven players much their inferior. The varsity linemen were being stopped by the smaller men on the offensive team, and the varsity secondary seemed to be out on its feet, for the Red team completed passes that should have been knocked down by the varsity defense.

Georgia fans are confident, however, that the big guns of the Bulldogs' squad will be ready on Saturday afternoon.

LET-DOWN.

The scrimmage today was the first one that the boys who played last Saturday have been in this week and their exhibition today was laid to the let-down to be expected from a game such as last Saturday's.

The big ray of sunshine in Wednesday's scrimmage for Georgia coaches was the playing of the second varsity eleven that Harry Mehre sent into the fray with the Reds. The second team looked better than the varsity did today, the second-string boys were getting the man with the ball quicker and better than the first team, and they were gaining yardage when they got on the offensive.

The first team did not scrimmage offensively in the 15 minutes after their playing on defense, they were put to running signals for the remainder of the afternoon, the coaches probably figuring that the little signal running would be better for them than an offensive scrimmage.

SECONDS MAY START.

Harry Mehre may have to depend on his second string team for the heavy work against North Carolina Saturday, or this may be his first fields and line up with a few first-stringers and use the second team to fill up the vacancies. Unless the coaches probably figure that the little signal running would be better for them than an offensive scrimmage.

Armin Wagh, Johnny Davidson, Jimmy Stoinoff and Buster Mott furnished the fireworks in today's practice when the Bulldogs began their offensive scrimmage against the freshman team. The four backs scored on the freshmen but failed to counter many touchdowns and had been the varsity's habit in the past few weeks. The freshmen, for the first time, really stopped the Bulldogs cold more than once.

Harry Mehre will hold his last scrimmage Thursday afternoon, the Red Devils furnishing the opposition with North Carolina plays and two freshmen teams furnishing the defense against the varsity onslaughts.

Collins Seeks Stronger Offense.

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Oct. 15.—Seeking a more potent offense and a sustained defense for use against the Georgia Bulldogs Saturday, Head Coach Chuck Collins scrimmaged the Tarheels today until dark.

Two lines and three backfields tried all their tricks on the freshmen.

Thompson was back at tackle, and the 180-pound Brown replaced P. L. Ely at end to make a heavier, more powerful starting line. Blocking looked good at intervals, but was not consistent.

Johnson, end; McDade, tackle; McIver and Fyall, guards, and Lipscomb, center, were the other men in this line.

Captain Cash and House were ready, but Coach Brown and these boys, and ran Branch, Wagner and Slusser at quarter and the halfbacks, and tried the rookies, Thompson and McNeill, at fullback.

Magner didn't go so well, and was replaced by Maus, who ran hard, passed well and made a sensational catch.

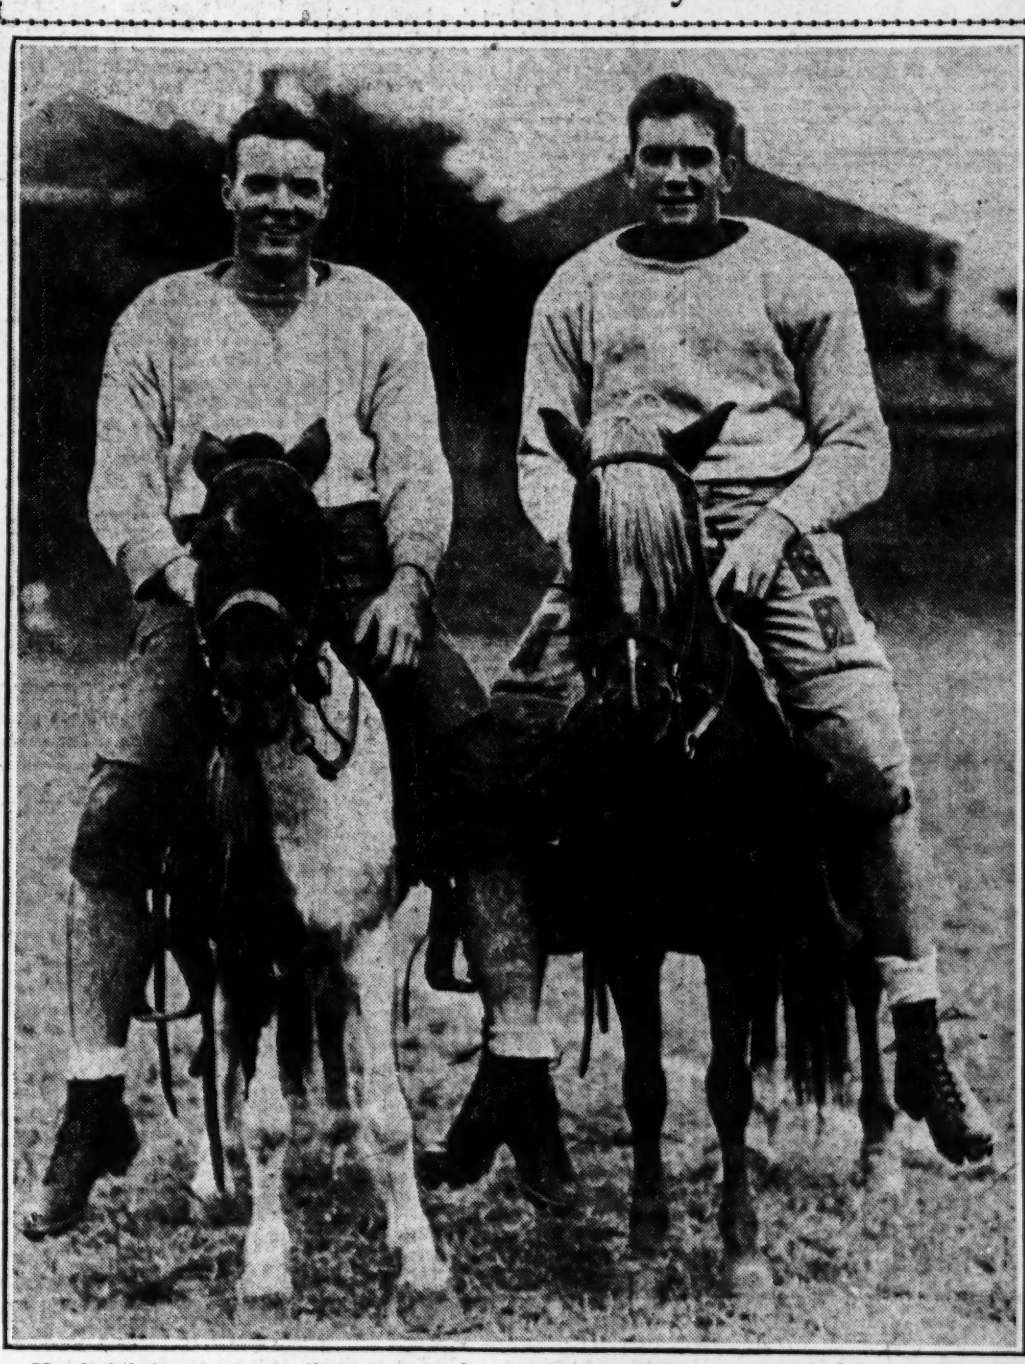

Chandler and Houston were among the best who were showing better today. They ran with Moore and Erickson.

Still another backfield had Wyrick, quarter; Maus and Erickson, halves, and McNeill, fullback. Running in the reserve line were Nichols and Parsley, ends; Hodges and Underwood, tackles; Blackwood and Dunsavant, guards, and Gilbreath, center.

Mrs. Gaut Winner Of First Match

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 15.—(AP)—Mrs. Dave Gaut, of Memphis, southern women's golf champion, won her first round match in the Tennessee women's tournament today, defeating Mrs. K. G. Duffield, of Memphis, 4 and 3.

Vanderbilt's Great Pony Backs

Vanderbilt has two great little pony backs this season in Johnny Askew, left, and Amos (Mouse) Leonard, right. Askew is the back who starred in the Minnesota game, scoring four touchdowns as Vanderbilt won 33 to 7. Leonard scored one touchdown in that game and starred against V. P. I. last week. Askew is a senior and Leonard a junior.

DAVIS CUP STAR IN ELOPEMENT

George Lott Weds Member of Wealthy Philadelphia Family.

ELKTON, Md., Oct. 15.—(AP)—Traveling by automobile George Martin Lott, Davis cup tennis star, and Miss Abigail Stapleton Allen arrived here early yesterday afternoon, secured a license and were married by the Rev. Edward Minor. They departed immediately following the ceremony.

Lott in the license gave his age as 23 and his address Chicago. His bride said she was 21, and that her home was at Abington, a suburb of Philadelphia. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Clayton Allen and made her debut in December, 1928.

Lott, fourth in the national ranking of tennis players for 1929, sprang into the firmament of tennis stars in 1924 by defeating R. Norris Williams, 11, twice former holder of the national singles championship, in a tournament at Forest Hills. In 1927 he and John F. Hennessey won the national doubles championship.

In August of this year he announced his intention to marry Miss Abigail Stapleton Allen, a tennis player and international star. He was quoted by New York papers as saying he did not want to become a "tennis bum, a parasite and a ne'er-do-well."

George Lott Enters Semi-Final Round.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Oct. 15.—(AP)—George M. Lott, Jr., Chicago member of the Davis cup team, entered the semi-final round of the Greenbriar autumn tennis tournament today. He advanced by defeating Alexander Keiles, Baltimore, 6-1, 6-3, after having disposed of Edward Brooke, Jr., Philadelphia, 6-1, 6-1. Keiles earned the right to referee tonight's boxing card at the Roanoke Athletic Club, said he had not been approached concerning a bout with Tommy Loughran at Philadelphia November 3.

Pete Tyrrell, matchmaker, was quoted at Philadelphia today as saying Loughran had agreed to the fight.

ROANOKE, Va., Oct. 15.—(AP)—W. L. ("Young") Stribling, here to referee tonight's boxing card at the Roanoke Athletic Club, said he had not been approached concerning a bout with Tommy Loughran at Philadelphia November 3.

Pete Tyrrell, matchmaker, was quoted at Philadelphia today as saying Loughran had agreed to the fight.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia, former world's light-heavyweight champion, has been matched to fight Young Stribling in Philadelphia November 3, Joe Smith, Loughran's manager, said today.

Georgia, 'Bama, Yale Favored by Atlantans

Major Speculation of Week Along Streets Centers About Three Big Grid Clashes.

By Ralph McGill.

Around this town of ours Wednesday afternoon all the bigwigs sidewalk football coaches had Georgia a lead pipe cinch to take North Carolina by two touchdowns Saturday at Athens; Yale a sure-fire shot to beat Brown and Alabama an odds-on favorite over the Tennessee Vols.

There are other football games, of course, not the least of which is the Carnegie Tech-Notre Dame game. Yet, somehow, the conversation around about in the shops and such picturesque places as the pool rooms seems to indicate that the Atlanta football experts believe Knute Rockne is in.

The Notre Dame men are 7 to 5 and 8 to 5 in the conversation. As noted before, the folding money is being moved seriously in just three games in these here parts—Yale-Brown, North Carolina-Georgia and Alabama-Tennessee.

Georgia "learned" the boys, so to speak, by beating Yale despite an illegitimate touchdown thrown in by the eastern officials who are one year in the line of thinking. The referee refused to admit that the rule by the 1929 code and claimed that when Weddington Kelly fumbled the kick-off he feared that the Georgia end might try to make a lateral pass.

All of which made no difference at all. If Weddington Kelly had been serving the football with a sand dressing it would have made no difference at all under the 1930 rules. The ball was dead at the spot where it was recovered by the Yale player. No one as yet seems to have brought out the fact that even had Kelly intended to lateral pass the football it would still have made no difference when recovered.

Strib Not Signed For Loughran Go

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Pete Tyrrell, matchmaker for the arena promoters here, said today that he had Tommy Loughran's consent to a bout with Young Stribling here November 3, but had not signed up Stribling. Tyrrell said he expects to see Stribling in a few days.

Night Football Scored By Coach Bill Roper

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 15.—(AP)—In the opinion of Bill Roper, Princeton's football coach, intercollegiate football is a "boy's game played by boys in a boy's way."

"Over emphasis will kill the game in a few years," Roper said today in an address to sports writers. Three ways in which the Tiger mentor believes football is being over-emphasized are spring practices, night games and publicity for individual stars.

Roper pointed out that the decline in the interest in college baseball in recent years may be traced to spring football practice. "Football should be a winter game played in the fall and not an all-year-round business," he said.

"Night football is brutal and outrageous and is likely to result in serious permanent injuries to the players," Roper said. "It puts them under serious eye strain and revolutionizes their whole college program. It necessitates practice at night and this interferes with the players' meals and with their sleep at night."

The Princeton coach went on to attack the amount of publicity which is given to individual stars, saying that it was greater than that accorded to Mussolini or to United States senators. "The result is to give the players a dwarfed perspective which handicaps them all through life."

TECH MACHINE RUNS SLOWLY AT ROSE BOWL

First String Held Even in Two Drills; Seconds Better.

Preparations for the coming of Auburn's Tigers were proceeding under a full head of steam at Georgia Tech's Rose Bowl Wednesday afternoon. The work even got so furious that there were two separate and distinct scrimmages roaring at the same time Wednesday.

The Jackets, who looked none too well at Pittsburgh last Saturday, seem to have worked up a wholesome respect for the Tigers who did themselves a good job of work at Jacksonville on that same last Saturday.

Coach Alexander, with an injured staff at present which includes Earl Dunlap, Doug Graydon and Sid Williams—punters all, among others, and a team which seemed far from a physical peak against the Tartans, grabbed him a shovel and heaped coal on the fires, sending the "first-string" through what turned out to be the longest and hardest afternoon's work since the Jackets stepped out on the field early in September.

"FIRST-STRING."

This "first-string" opened the afternoon's festivities in a scrimmage against the freshmen, in which they took the offensive burden on their shoulders and started on a trip. They didn't get away, however. The snap and drive of Tuesday was missing. The freshmen were fighting for each inch and the varsity machine faltered and missed and scattered and finally came very, very close to bogging down.

The lineup included Jones and Goldsmith, ends; Sprue and Mare, tackles; Ezell and Brooke, guards; Farnham, center; Colvin, quarterback; Hart and Strickland, halfbacks, and Cain, fullback.

They were replaced, respectively, by Isaacs and Hearn, Holt and Corn, Stalnaker and McKee, Neblett, MacArthur, Barron and Flowers, and Cherry—constituting the "second string" which looked not at all like a first string by comparison.

A LITTLE BETTER.

Not that they did any too well; just that they did better than their predecessors. They managed to roll a new freshman team which carried as powerful as that which had just left back up the sward with none too much trouble, and left a good impression.

Meanwhile the varsity squad which had given way took the defense against the Grey Devils and Chet Wynne's modified Notre Dame system of play and looked no worse as stoppers "a" they did as starters.

They faced a strong Grey Devil team, and "Bus" Weatherford, posing as Tom Brown—who does NOT play a saxophone. Only one touchdown had been scored by the Jackets. That attack kept the lads of the big string quite busy. They had little time to cogitate on matters not directly connected with the gridiron.

Both Dunlap and Graydon were held out of the scrimmage, although everyone else in uniform yesterday got to show his wares. But one new casualty—Tom Jones—was registered, and his loss of a front tooth in a bit of face-to-face combat is not expected to be much of a handicap.

Wynne Pushes Work At "Loveliest Village."

AUBURN, Ala., Oct. 15.—No time is being lost by the Auburn mentors in whipping their charges into shape for the hard game facing the Tigers on Grant field Saturday against the Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets. It will be both teams' second Southern conference game of the 1930 season. Regardless of where practice is held, hard work is in the offing.

The third drill of the week was fielded on the freshmen field, because Drake field was being used by the freshmen and the tank battalion from Fort Benning, who were playing a practice game.

The usual preliminary work was held for the players, and a long scrimmage concluding the afternoon's work.

In the practice battle, the freshmen staged a final period rally and won, 25 to 0. Only one touchdown had been scored by the Cubs until the final period, when they unleashed an overhead game that completely baffled the soldiers. Passes accounted for three of the touchdowns. An end run brought the fourth.

Sandlot Elevens Are Ready for Opening Games Saturday

Plans Completed For Two Leagues

Teams From Athens To Compete Here; Squads of 115 Pounds Open at 9 O'Clock.

Final arrangements for the opening of the Atlanta sandlot football league were made at a meeting Wednesday night. Two divisions have been made in the league. One will have a 115-pound weight limit, and the other 130 pounds.

The games are to be run in accordance with the regular football rules. The 115-pound league will start its games at 9 o'clock and the games in the heavier league will get under way at 10 a. m. Saturday mornings. Most of the teams weighed in last night and cards were issued to the boys who qualified giving them the right to play. Teams that did not weigh in Wednesday night will have a chance to do so Friday between 4 and 5 and from 7 to 8 p. m.

JOCKEY RIDES FIVE WINNERS

Louisville Youth Gives Great Exhibition at Churchill Downs.

By Orlo Robertson,

Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(AP)—In the most brilliant exhibition of reinmanship of his short but sensational career, Eugene James, 17-year-old Louisville boy, today rode five winners, four in succession, at Churchill Downs, Kentucky.

Today's performance far outlasted anything yet shown by the youthful riding sensation.

The five triumphs today boosted his list for the year to 77, the first of which was registered on July 11 at the Latonia, Ky., summer meeting. Last Monday James rode four winners.

Here is how James' string of victories today looked with the price paid by each in the mutuels.

First Race, Konshaw—$24.24.

Third Race, Dreyer—$6.80.

Fourth Race, Fairy Ring—$4.40.

Fifth Race, Vera C.—$19.34.

Sixth Race, Western Princess—$11.88.

If it hadn't been for James, the Tennessee stable's Vanderpool would have grabbed the turf's spotlight today. The brilliant two-year-old was forced to take a back seat even though he hung up his 10th consecutive victory in making his first start since July in the Mad Hatter handicap at Jamaica.

Nine of Vanderpool's victories have been clear cut while the 10th came with the disqualification of Harry Payne Whitney's Equinox in a race at the Aqueduct spring meeting.

The sprint sensation of the two-year-old division covered five furlongs in 1:01 4-5 to defeat a class of juveniles. Commuter all but overtook the winner when Jockey Abel, who had the mount on Vanderpool, became overconfident, but the Tennessee stable's star managed to win by a neck.

Citadel-Davidson Clash Has Interest

DAVIDSON, N. C., Oct. 15.—With The Citadel-Davidson game in Charlotte Saturday afternoon the only one in the state in which a Big Five member participates, officials at Davidson are making plans, through the Charlotte authorities, to care for a tremendous crowd.

With both teams possessing, to a large degree, the same outfits that fought on Richardson field here last fall, the scrap should be one worth watching. Davidson barely eked out a 7-to-6 victory, and with the pace which the Bulldogs have been setting, the latter are the favorites in the encounter Saturday. Their conquest of V. M. I. by a count of 7 to 6 was a feather in their cap, and with that victory to spur them on, they will be anxious to take Davidson in tow, and at the same time avenge their defeat of last fall.

Citadel Preps For Davidson Game.

CHARLOTTE, S. C., Oct. 15.—After two grueling, tight battles with Southern Conference teams, The Citadel Bulldogs are preparing this week for their annual game with Davidson in Charlotte on Saturday. Holding Clemson to a 13-7 score, the Bulldogs came back last Saturday to defeat Virginia Military Institute 7 to 6.

RAPID ADVANCEMENT. Thornton Lee, southpaw pitcher, advanced rapidly this year. He started with Tampa and was sent to New Orleans and the Pelicans then sold him to Cleveland.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Lou Little is taking his Columbia squad to Dartmouth for the first hard rub of the year, and while Dartmouth is favored to win with something to spare, it will be no walk-over. The Columbia squad has come a long way from the early days of September and Little can always be depended on to give his teams a puzzling attack that is at least annoying, even against better and more experienced material.

CORNELL AND PRINCETON.

CORNELL is coming to Princeton with a better team than Doble had last fall, and that was a first-class outfit. Princeton is also better than the Tiger was a year ago, so this indicates another close, hard game where each team has good ball-carrying backs to pick up some valuable ground. The good backs are not so good unless they are given the needed support and it was in this respect that Princeton fell away last week. Brown's hard and fast charging line had something to do with this. In fact it had about everything to do with it.

THE THIRTY-FOURTH?

IT has been so long since Tennessee lost a game that one has to rub the dust from the record books to discover the answer. Coach Bob Neyland has seen his teams move through thirty-three contests in four years without being beaten.

But on Saturday Tennessee must invade the Tuscaloosa stronghold of Alabama and the Volunteers must get under way with McEver, one of the best backs in football, missing.

This makes the thirty-fourth stop one of the hardest Tennessee has faced. Alabama is nearly always good, always up to a high average and her 1930 edition can be a barrier in the way of any invader. No team can lose a McEver without feeling a drastic effect. This big, fast back has been one of the best in football for two years, but now, with a bad knee, he may never play again.

Tennessee's four-year record and the strength of the opposition on Saturday make this contest one of the most interesting of the day.

THE FOOT STILL COUNTS.

THERE has been a general idea that the foot has been taken out of football. Chandler, of Georgia, upset this theory last Saturday when his big right toe was one of the main factors in Yale's defeat. Georgia kept kicking and Yale kept rushing. And then before Yale knew it, Georgia started rushing and Yale suddenly discovered she had run herself out.

INTERSECTIONAL SIGNS.

THESE intersectional signs give a good line on the comparative strength of various teams. For example, the battle that Southern Methodist fought against a fast, powerful Notre Dame team shows the stuff that S. M. U. carries into action.

Only a high-grade outfit could have forced Notre Dame to a long pass in the closing minutes for a closing victory.

From one showing at South Bend one can get a better line on other southwest teams that meet S. M. U. This sector is a long way from most of the big publicity centers, but they have been playing football that matches any other gridiron range.

PUBLICITY CENTERS.

THERE is nothing like being close to leading publicity centers to build up a name, either for a team or a star.

With over a hundred strong teams scattered all over the map today it isn't easy to keep track of them all. Those with the bigger stadias, drawing the bigger crowds get most of the attention.

As Mr. Gray almost wrote—
Full many a Coy is born to buck unseen
The smaller college outfits often bear;
Full many a coy is born to buck unseen
And waste his rushes on the campus air.

"COACH STAGG and Connie Mack both 68"—but Coach Stagg doesn't happen to have an Earnshaw and a Grove around. Nor a Cochrane, Simmons and Fox.

Major Frank Cavanaugh, of Fordham, is now looking ahead to the storming of New York, or rather New York University, which will call for more artillery than he needed last fall. This contest is 10 days away, but it is already steaming up in the snappy outlook for another city civil war.

The Army team even without Cagle may be able to puzzle the Harvard defense for a while. It isn't so easy to change the habits of four years in a single afternoon.

Northwestern faces two tough turns on Saturday in her battle for conference supremacy. One is the absence of Hank Bruder, a star back, and the other is the matter of upsetting Bob Zuppke when the Illinois coach has a defeat to revenge from the year before. When Zuppke gets set for a certain contest he is always a problem none too simple to solve between the hours of 2 and 4 p. m.

'Gator Seconds To Meet Rollins

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Oct. 15.—(AP) Negotiations for a gridiron contest between the University of Florida's "B" squad and Rollins College at Winter Park on Thanksgiving Day were completed today by Edgar Jones, 'Gator athletic director, and Jack McDowell, Rollins coach.

Jones said one or two other contests for the Florida "B" squad also were pending.

HE SUFFERED FOR YEARS WITH PILES

Some Doctors Said Ulcers; Others Abscesses and Others Piles

A SIMPLE LITTLE REMEDY CURED IT

"After you have suffered as I did for three years and spend all I did in vain, you surely feel grateful when something comes along and heals you up and makes you well and happy, at my age, 79 years," writes C. F. C. Stamp, who, like scores of people here, praises Colac Pile Pills to the sky.

"Some doctors called it abscess, others ulcers and some just piles, but I was in terrible pain with almost a steady flow of bloody fume, or sometimes it was clear red blood. Our family physician, and a couple more, did their best for me, and I had already used the remedies advertised in the papers, so you can imagine my relief when I found Colac Pile Pills were each day lessening the pain and bloody flow. It got less and less until it quit, and the bowels moved regular and comfortable again. They surely healed me up and made me well and happy," continued Mr. Stamp, a well-known farmer of Preston, Iowa.

Seven out of ten past forty years of age are apt to suffer with some mild or serious rectal trouble. Colac Pile Pills—a couple with a swallow of water at meal times—do good to countless thousands. They are sold on positive guarantee of results or money back by leading druggists, or send The Cash or stamps to Colac Chemical Co., Brentwood, Md., for full size bottle return mail.—(adv.)

Cosmopolitan Squad Is Boasted at Rollins

WINTER PARK, Fla., Oct. 15.—Although the varsity football squad at Rollins College includes only 24 members, it represents a total of 14 different states. Six of the players come from Florida, three from New York, and two each from Ohio, Connecticut and North Carolina. Other states represented by one each, are Mississippi, Massachusetts, Missouri, Wisconsin, Virginia, Illinois, West Virginia, New Hampshire and South Dakota.

Although the Rollins varsity has not yet opened its season's schedule, it is likely that at least eight different states will be represented in any lineup used by Coach Jack McDowell during the season. The seven members of the forward line which McDowell will probably rate as his starting lineup, represent seven different states, and three states other than those represented in the line will have sons in the first string backfield.

VOIS UPSET. KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 15.—(UN)—Tennessee's starting lineup against Alabama seemed as much in doubt as ever today with continual changes in progress to fill vacancies resulting from injuries. Tennessee had nothing more than an even chance to win with all its men. More than a half dozen are unavailable by injuries.

MRS. HILL WINS SECOND MATCH

Glenna Collett and Miss Helen Hicks Also Come Through.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Mrs. O. S. Hill, of Kansas City, defeated Mrs. Brent Potter, San Jose, 4 and 3, today in a second match of the 1930 women's national amateur golf championship. Mrs. Hill was one up at the turn.

Miss Helen Hicks, young star from Inwood, N. Y., overwhelmed Miss Barbara Lee, of Oakland, 8 and 7, in their second round match. Miss Hicks shot the first nine in 36, three under par.

Mrs. Roy Green, of Culver City, disposed of Mrs. Gregg Lifer, Los Angeles, 6 and 4.

The comeback aspirations of Miss Marion Hollins, of Santa Cruz, former titleholder, were shattered when she went down to a 3-and-2 defeat at the hands of Miss Virginia Van Wie, Chicago.

Miss Glenna Collett, defending champion, eliminated Miss Helen Lawson, Los Angeles, 5 and 3.

Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd was defeated 2 and 1 by Miss Maureen Orcutt, Haworth, N. J.

Miss Peggy Wattle, Buffalo, N. Y., defeated Mrs. Harley Higbie, Detroit, in the final match of the day, 3 and 2.

DRIVER KILLED. LOS ANGELES, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Lynn Eldredge, Los Angeles automobile race driver, died today of injuries suffered when his car crashed through a fence at Ascot speedway last night. He was tuning up his racer for tonight's contests.

Berry Is Slated To Head 'Smokies'

Prominent Knoxville Printer Holds Controlling Interest—Old Name May Stand.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 15.—(AP)—Backers of the Knoxville club of the Southern league said today that Major George L. Berry, president of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistant's Union, Pressmen's Home, Tenn., is slated as president of the Knoxville club.

Major Berry is to be a major stockholder in the club.

W. N. Smithson, city councilman, who led the fight to bring the Mobile franchise here, is scheduled to be elected executive vice president and business manager of the club at an organization meeting to be held probably upon the return of Major Berry from Boston.

The councilman said financial backing is assured. An option, he said, has been granted on practically all of the Mobile stock.

Smithson said no one has been slated as club manager, and that Knoxville "is open to applications." On return from the Memphis meeting today the councilman had received two applications from prospective club managers and a wire from Sidney Weil, president of the Cincinnati club, seeking an exhibition game in Knoxville, April 5.

Knoxville May Keep Old Name. KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 15.—(AP) Like Chattanooga's baseball club, which bears the name of famous Lookout mountain, Knoxville's Southern league club will probably carry the name of the near-by Great Smoky mountains.

"The Knoxville Smokies" is the name generally favored by those backing the club, acquired through the transfer here of Mobile's Southern league franchise. It is the old name used by Knoxville's team in the South Atlantic Association.

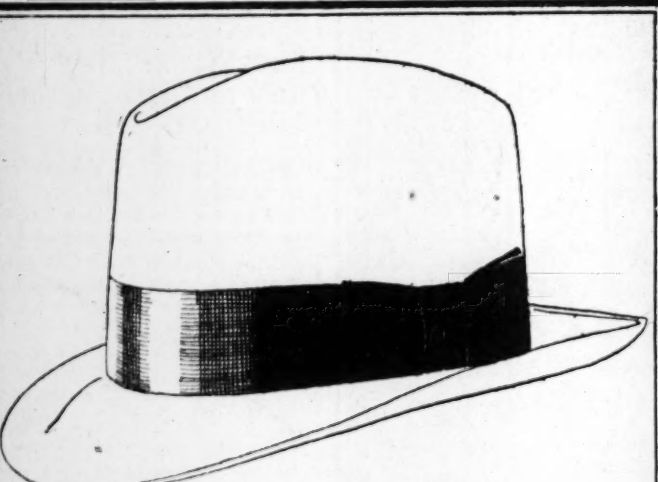

Knoxville Plans Steel Grandstand

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 15.—(AP)—City officials announced today that plans for a modern steel-supported grandstand at Caswell park, home of the Knoxville club, which takes the Mobile franchise in the Southern association, are being drawn and construction will begin shortly.

The city council a week ago authorized the expenditure of $25,000 for a grandstand. It will seat 5,000 persons. Wood on bleachers also will be built.

Rex Wallace, public welfare director, said Caswell park will be leased to the club owners on a long term lease at a nominal figure. The city council several months ago legalized Sunday baseball in Knoxville.

Florida Squad Leaves for Chicago and Clash With Maroons

GATORS EXPECT HARD STRUGGLE BUT HAVE HOPES

Bachman Takes 28 Men on Quest of Intersectional Triumph.

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Oct. 15.—(AP)—Coach Charles W. Bachman, of the University of Florida, admitted today that his "Gator" squad faces a "big assignment" when it invades the midwestern Saturday to meet the University of Chicago.

Despite Chicago's loss last week to Wisconsin, the Florida mentor said he was aware of Alonzo Stagg's reputation for turning a down-trodden team into a whirlwind in quick order, and is prepared for a stiff battle.

The Gators took the first afternoon for their last practice before departing for Chicago tonight. An hour and a half stop at Cincinnati will enable them to step through a few light maneuvers at St. Xavier college tomorrow night.

TEAM IN SHAPE.
As the team prepared to leave, it was recalled that Florida never has won a football game beyond the borders of Dixie, but high hopes prevail locally that the Gators might come through victorious Saturday because of the splendid condition of the entire team.

Joe Hall is back in shape and will make the trip. His days at fullback are over, Coach Bachman said today, and from now on he will be seen at right end.

MAKE-UP OF PARTY.
Coach Bachman nominated 28 men to make the Chicago trip, including Jimmy Nolan, Joe Hall, Joe Norfleet, Ed Farnell, Spurgeon Cherry, Jesse Turner, Carlos Proctor, Al Dodge, Dale Waters, Clarence Phil, Ben Clements, Frank Clark, Jim Ramsey, Phil McRae, Wilbur James, Jimmy Steele, J. D. Williamson, Milton McEwen, Luke Dorsett, Ed Sauls, Harvey Yancy, Joe Jenkins, Link Sills, Howard McClellan, Captain Leroy Hetha, Al Rogers, Homer Seay and Don Forsythe.

In the party also will be Coaches Bachman, Van Sickle and Holsinger, Edgar Jones, Frank Wright, Student Manager Charles Chaplin and Trainer John Plombo.

Florida's invasion of Chicago this week marks the tenth intersectional football game engaged in by a Florida squad. It will be the forty-second time a Chicago team has stepped into intersectional battle.

Not until 1928, when South Carolina nosed out the Maroons, 6 to 0, had Chicago hosted to a southern football team, and such contenders as Vanderbilt, Georgia, Kentucky and Maryland, along with Florida in 1926, had yielded up a victory to Stagg's warriors.

Chicago was successful twice last season in intersectional football, whipping Princeton, 15 to 7, and taking the University of Washington into camp, 26 to 6. Florida also played a pair of intersectional games last fall, losing to Harvard, 14 to 0, but trouncing the University of Oregon, 20 to 6.

Florida's first intersectional football game was in 1916, the Gators

Uncrossed Goal Lines In Danger Saturday

Sterner Tests Foil Fine Defensive Elevens. Georgia Is Smart—Yale May Shift Booth.

By Walter Trumbull.
(Copyright, 1930, for The Constitution by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)
NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Among the elevens which have not been scored upon this season are Alabama, Army, Brown, Columbia, Colgate, Dartmouth, Detroit, Harvard, Illinois, Kentucky, Michigan State, Pittsburg, Stanford, Syracuse, Tennessee, Texas, University of Washington, Western Maryland and Wisconsin. Some of these have had no real tests, but most of them are strong defensively. This Saturday a number of them are likely to have their goal lines crossed.

"When a team with a greater kicker to play us," a coach once said to me, "I offer a choice of three footballs, a soft, softer and softest ball."

He can't do this any more. The new rules provide that a football be inflated with not less than a 12 1/2 nor more than a 13 1/2 pound pressure. Last year the rule said not less than 13 nor more than 14 pounds.

Passers like a ball soft enough to dig their fingers into and get a grip. Kickers like a hard ball.

Pittsburgh has kept its goal line inviolate and scored 120 points, but now on Dr. John Bain Sutherland will be a head coach with plenty on his mind. The Pitt team looks strong, but you can't lose such players as Joe Donohue, Ray Montgomery, Toby Lanson, Paul Parkinson, Al Dimeolo and Charlie Edwards without missing them.

Pittsburgh now plays Syracuse. Notre Dame, Nebraska, Carnegie Tech, Ohio State and Penn State, a very imposing list as football teams go. Joe Sutherland hates to part with any points to opposing teams, perhaps because he was born in Scotland. Sutherland came to this country when he was 18 and attended Oberlin academy in Ohio.

When he entered Pitt, where Joe Duff, of Princeton, was coaching he never had played football, but went out for the team and showed such promise for the game that he played in the first contest of the season against Navy. From then on he was a regular, and since then he has become a most successful coach.

HEAVY SCORERS.
Three of the high scoring elevens of the year to date have been Colgate, Cornell and Dartmouth. Colgate has run up 178 points; Cornell, 174 points, and Dartmouth, 173 points. That would appear to be carrying the ball to good advantage. Oberlin has scored 27 points and had 27 scored against it. Fair enough!

IN THE PALANCE OF THE KING.
Georgia outboxed Yale. The southerners feinted the Bulldogs into openings and then socked unprotected territory. Georgia also outboxed Yale in a real football sense: The boxing of linemen, to let a runner through. That's a smart Georgia team.

I have been told of one coach this season who apparently refuses to take out boys until they are utterly exhausted. That is a bad fault. Any time a youngster shows signs of being badly, a substitute should be sent in. Not to send in a reserve man is to invite injury.

BOOTH AT HALF?
Some football followers believe that Yale should play Albion Booth at half-back, but two good interferences in the backfield with him, and play Heim at quarter. One objection to this is that it might weaken the secondary defense. Taylor is one back who did good work for the Blue; and, to my mind, Looser and Linehan were the most effective men in the line.

SHIMON WILL DEFEND CUE CROWN TONIGHT
Max Shimon, of Milwaukee, will defend his national amateur three-cushion title against Robert B. Harper of Denver in a 150-point challenge match which opens at the Denver Athletic Club tonight. This match will be played in three blocks of 50 points each and will end on Saturday night. This is the first test of the season for the amateur three-cushion crown.

CAIN STILL OUT.
TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Oct. 15.—(AP)—With Fullback Cain still nursing an injured foot, Alabama's starting backfield against Tennessee Saturday probably will be Campbell, Suther, Long and McRight. Elmore, varsity end, suffered a split eye and will be out for at least a week.

Going to Indiana, 14 to 3. The famous trip to Harvard in 1922 was the second major jaunt by a Florida team. Since then two games have been played with the Army, one with Texas, one with Drake, one with Chicago, one with Harvard and one with Oregon. The 1940 count over Drake in 1924 and the Oregon triumph last season have been Florida's only intersectional victories. A 7-7 tie was played with Texas in 1924.

Should Charlie Bachman's 1930 "Fighting Gators" gain the verdict at Chicago next Saturday it will be the first Florida triumph in intersectional combat away from home.

GLOVER IS SEEN AS WAVE STAR

Youngster Becomes Big Spark in Tulane Back-field Combination.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 15.—(Special.)—A new star has been definitely located in the southern football firmament and its magnitude is undoubtedly brilliant.

Wop Glover, mighty midget of Tulane, gave one of the greatest all-around exhibitions of football ever seen in the southwest last Saturday to lead his team to a 19 to 9 victory over the Texas A. & M. Farmers.

Glover ripped and roared past the Aggies at every twist. He broke away once for 62 yards and a touchdown. He caught a pass once and raced to another marker. He slipped over tackle for numerous first downs and one short gain after another. The Aggies couldn't hold him even when they found him.

Then he took his turn throwing passes and did well. And to finish the day he took over the punting duties and kept the Aggies well back all through the last half.

Glover, a sophomore understudy to Armstrong last season, seems to have jumped into a class with the sensational lads of last year.

He can pass, run and punt and is an able all-around back on defense. He weighs only slightly more than 150 pounds.

BYRD CONFIDENT.
COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 15.—(AP)—Coach Curley Byrd announced today he had a good team. He said he waited for the Yale and North Carolina games to find out, and though Maryland lost both games, the O'liners outplayed Yale for three periods and made 13 first downs to North Carolina's eight last Saturday.

Treadway Horses Qualify for Crown

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 15.—(AP)—W. T. Treadway, of St. Louis, today had qualified two of his horses for the grand championship stake of the St. Louis National Horse show, which will be the feature of the Saturday night events.

Treadway's Rainbow Rose pranced to first place in the $2,500 championship mare division last night. The night before his Rex Lee Bourbon carried off the $2,500 championship stake for five-gaited saddle stallions.

Other mares to qualify for the grand championship event were Clara Bow, owned by G. A. Nichols, Oklahoma City, second; Miss Annabel Lee, owned by Mary Gwyn Fiers, Oklahoma City, and Naughty But Nice, also owned by Mary Gwyn Fiers.

Although seven horses competed in the championship mare division, the chief contest was between Rainbow Rose and Clara Bow for first place. Before announcing the winner, the judges called the two horses back to the ring to perform in duo.

Why does Old Gold always Win in every Public Taste-Test of the 4 Leading Cigarette Brands?

BELIEVE IT or NOT FANS

... here's the Answer to your Question

Every day, the letters pour in. "How does O. G. get that way? Why does O. G. always win? You've proved they do . . . tell us why?"

Well, fans . . . Just read this story and see why OLD GOLD always comes out on top.

TEA-TASTERS PICK OLD GOLD . . . Actual photograph shows testers in action.

"Long before OLD GOLD ever appeared on the market, Lorillard took every other brand and a dozen blends of its own . . . wrapped them all in plain white paper . . . and asked American smokers to pick the best.

"One blend of Lorillard's won every taste-test. That blend became OLD GOLD. It still wins every public taste-test because it is the only cigarette deliberately planned to bring enjoyment to American smokers!"

WELL, OLD GOLD has won again! This time with the world's most expert tea-tasters.

"No wonder you ask 'Give us the low-down.'"

"Believe it or not, OLD GOLD wins because it was deliberately tailored to the taste of American smokers!"

The MURDER at the VICARAGE

BY AGATHA CHRISTIE

INSTALLMENT XX.

"At first the case looked very black against Mrs. Protheroe," said the colonel thoughtfully. "Much blacker than against young Redding. There was that old woman, Marple's evidence that she didn't have the pistol with her but these elderly ladies are often mistaken."

"I was silent, but I did not agree with him. I was quite sure that Mrs. Protheroe had had no pistol with her since Miss Marple had said so. Miss Marple is not the type of elderly lady who makes mistakes. She has got an uncanny knack of being always right."

"What did get me was that nobody heard the shot. If it was fired then—Somebody must have heard it—wherever they thought it came from. Slack, you'd better have a word with the maid."

Inspector Slack moved with alacrity towards the door.

"I shouldn't ask her if she heard a shot in the house," I said. "Because if you do, she'll deny it. Call it a shot in the wood. That's the only kind of shot she'll admit to hearing."

"I know how to manage them," said Inspector Slack and disappeared.

Miss Marple says she heard a shot later, said Colonel Melchett thoughtfully. "We must admit it if we can fix the time at all precisely. Of course, it may be a stray shot that had nothing to do with the case."

"It may be, of course," I agreed.

The colonel took a turn or two up and down the room.

"Do you know, Clement," he said suddenly, "I've a feeling that this is going to turn out a much more intricate and difficult business than any of us think. Dash it all, there's something behind it." He snorted. "Something we don't know about. We're only beginning. Clement, Mark—these words, we're only beginning. All these things, the clock, the note, the pistol—they don't make sense as they stand. I shook my head. They certainly didn't."

"But I'm going to get to the bottom of it. No caving in of Scotland Yard. Slack's a smart man. He's a very smart man. He's a kind of ferret. He'll nose his way through to the truth. He's done several very good things already and this case will be his chief d'oeuvre. Some men would call in Scotland Yard. I shan't. We'll get to the bottom of this here in Downshire."

"I hope so, I'm sure," I said.

I tried to make my voice enthusiastic, but I have already taken such a dislike to Inspector Slack that the prospect of his success failed to appeal to me. A successful Slack would, I thought, be even more odious than a baffled one.

"Who has the house next door?" asked the colonel suddenly.

"You mean at the end of the road?" Mrs. Price Ridley said.

"We'll go along to her after Slack has finished with your maid. She might possibly have heard something. She isn't deaf or anything, is she?"

"I should say her hearing was remarkably keen. I'm going by the amount of scandal she has started by just happening to overhear accidentally."

"That's the kind of woman we want. Oh! here's Slack."

The inspector had the air of one emerging from a severe tussle.

"Phew!" he said. "That's a tartar you've got, sir."

"Mary is essentially a girl of strong character," I replied.

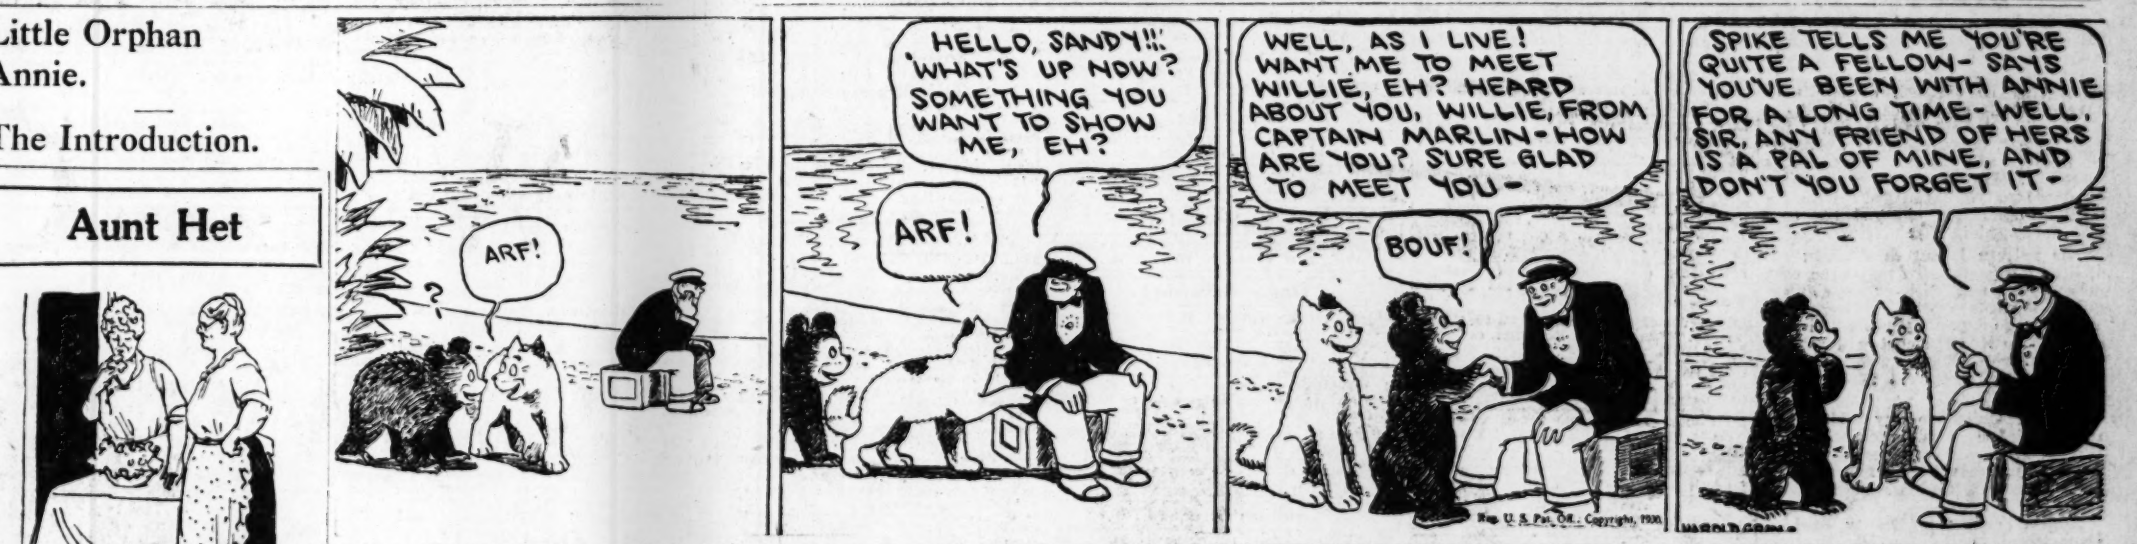

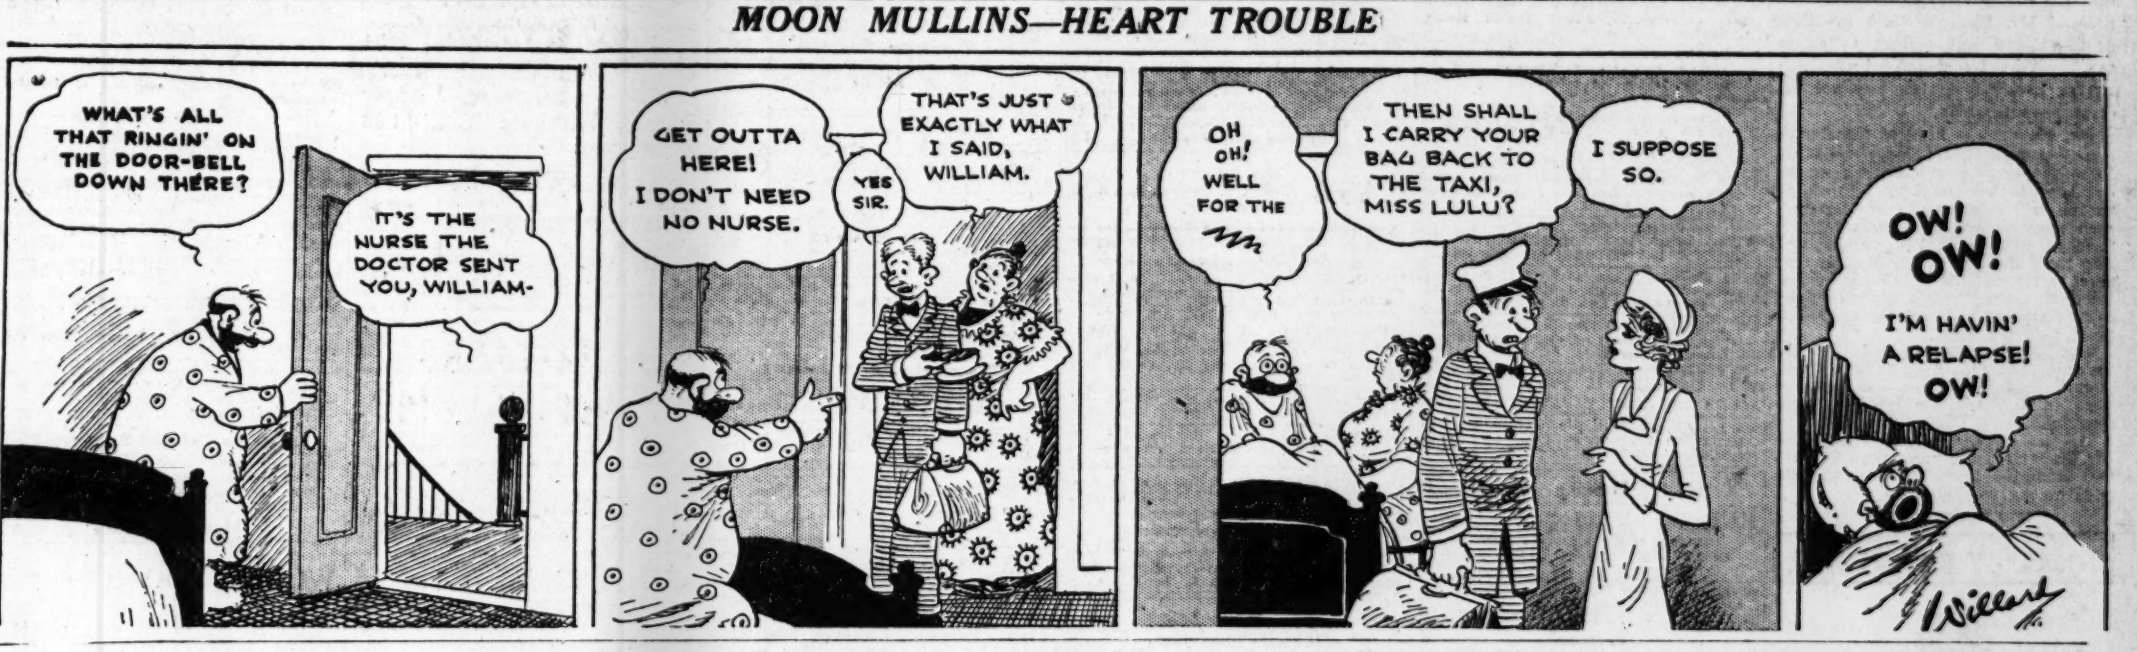

"Doesn't like the police," he said. "I cautioned her—did what I could to put the fear of the law into her, but no good. She stood right up to me."

"Spirited," I said, feeling more kindly toward Mary.

"But I pinned her down all right. She heard one shot—and one shot only. And it was a good long time after Colonel Protheroe came. I couldn't get her to name a time, but she fired it at last by means of the fish. The fish was late, and she blew the boy up when he came, and he said it was barely half past six anyway, and it was just after that she heard the shot. Of course, that's not accurate, so to speak, but it gives us an idea."

"Hm," said Melchett.

"I don't think Mrs. Protheroe's in

TARZAN AND THE LOST EMPIRE No. 82

Von Harben, Lepus and Gabula, waiting that night in the deserted house for a chance to escape, heard the creaking of the gate. "They are coming," said von Harben. The three men seized their swords, scaled the ladder and crept onto the roof, leaving the trap-door slightly open.

Von Harben heard voices coming from below. "Is she alive? I cannot hear her breathe," said one. "Listen, we will take the gag from your mouth if you will not scream," said another. "I shall not scream," said a woman's voice in a familiar tone that set von Harben's heart palpitating.
